Farmers Union Joins Bureau In Protest

The Randall County Farmers Union has joined the Randall County Farm Bureau in protesting the Cattle Scabies Eradication Program.

Alfred Buecker of the Farmer's Union, said Tuesday, the organization had talked with a representative of U.S. Representative Graham Purcell who "was very interested" and currently working on the problem.

He said the Farmer's Union plans a meeting next week to discuss some action.

Bob McCasland and Cristler Crain of the Farm Bureau said Monday they were discussing the matter with representatives of U. S. Representative Bob Price.

McCasland said the letter expressing the Farm Bureau protest was also sent to state representatives from this area and plans were to discuss the problem with Gov. Preston Smith.

Crain said the Randall County organization had received inquiries about the protest from the Gray County Farm Bureau.

The board of directors of the Farm Bureau expressed their concern with the eradication program in a letter mailed last week. The protest followed an announcement of stricter dipping requirements for cattle. The new requirements are to become effective June 1.

The letter states, "We understand that cattle scabies is a serious threat to the cattle industry; but, we also know that it is not injurious to the life of the cattle or to man as is anthrax or other such diseases.

"We feel a more practical approach to the problem should be taken. The measures being forced upon us are too harsh and more thought should be given to their consequences," the letter continues.

Randall County has had only minor occurrences of scabies and it has apparently been controlled through measures already taken, the letter states.

"Indiscriminate, mandatory dipping of all cattle prior to shipping would produce several consequences that we feel are more serious than the problem itself," according to Farm Bureau members.

The letter lists added expense to the consumer, added expense to the tax payer, unnecessary pollution of the environment, the health and well-being of the cattle, profiteering by individuals at the expense to the cattleman, and increased cost to the producer.

"The cure seems to be fast becoming worse than the problem," the letter stresses. The machinery for its operation is already set up and working. Our only recourse is to write you and hope that you can afford us some relief before the problem becomes more serious," the letter declares.

The Farm Bureau said when the program began in the fall, the members felt it was to be of a temporary nature but are now told the program is to be in effect for an undetermined time beginning June 1.

McCasland said the organization is calling the problem to the attention of the congressmen "because we feel they should know about it." He said he hoped other organizations would join the Farm Bureau.

"We hope they will study the program and give it more thought," he added. "There are alot of people who don't realize what is coming," he said.

D.A. Reports

The legislative committee of the Texas District and County Attorney's Association has recommended a change in the penalty for first possession of marijuana.

George Dowlen, Randall County District Attorney and member of the committee, returned Monday from a meeting in San Antonio.

Dowlen said the committee has recommended the penalty for first possession be set at two to ten years in the penitentiary but following a conviction and the hearing of further evidence, the judge could reduce the conviction to a misdeamenor.

If the conviction is reduced, the maximum penalty would be a $2000 fine and one year in jail. The current penalty for possession of marijuana is two years to life in prison, Dowlen said.

"In the event of a first offender with a small amount of marijuana, the judge would probably want to make the conviction a misdeamenor rather than a felony," Dowlen stated.

"However, if there is evidence of trafficking in drugs or a large quantity involved, the judge could use the felony offense," Dowlen added.

This statute recommended by the committee seems to be more in line with what the people want in regard to marijuana, Dowlen said. He said the committee heard testimony from several persons on the subject before the statute was written.

The full recommendation of the legislative committee will be presented to the District and County Attorney's Association convention in May, Dowlen stated.

"The recommendations are a vast improvement over what was submitted by the State Bar Association from the point of view of law enforcement, the public and in most cases the defendent," Dowlen declared.

Dowlen said the committee raised the possible punishment on most offenses from what was proposed by the Bar Association and completely reworked the sec-

Freedom Restricted -- Vaughn

BY KAY FOSTER

Dr. Robert Vaughn, one-time Napoleon Solo from the Man from U.N.C.L.E. series, said that we have many individual freedoms, and they are expressed in many ways, but since we are victims of a larger power structure...the state, "we aren't as free as we really think we are."

Dr. Vaughn, who received his doctorate in Philosophy in mass communication in 1970, spoke to approximately 200 people Monday night in the Ballroom of the WT Activities Center. The Student's Activities Council sponsored his lecture which centered around "Freedom of Speech."

"We have been and are controlled by a system that does what it will with its people," he said.

He added that what it boils down to is that we have all the freedom we want as long as we exercise that freedom. When our freedom is abused we have the right to speak out against the abuser.

In exercising our freedoms, polls show the majority of Americans favor a pullout in Viet Nam. "The government," Vaughn said, "is apparently no longer concerned with what the people want but with perpetuating its own interests."

He added that the government does not acknowledge the rights of the First Amendment, instead the administration has "labeled opponents by the same terms used to define treason."

Government snooping is causing many of our freedoms, particularly privacy, to become things of the past. The information the government collects on individuals is full of distortions and inaccuracies and too often available to any one who desires the information.

" 'Let it all hand out' must be a street slogan the government is proud of by the way it keeps all these files and by the way it makes the information available", Dr. Vaughn added.

Although he has been working and living in Europe most of the past few years, he has kept up with politics in the U.S. He said that he supports Sen. George McGovern for president, but that he himself has no political aspirations and that the democratic way is best.

"I am an actor by profession—and choice, and I consider it a choice profession," he said.

Concerning the war in Viet Nam he predicted that within 90 days of the withdrawal of U.S. from South Viet Nam the communists would take over.

If the government of South Viet Nam cannot stand on its own after 13 years of U.S. support, it should be allowed to fall, he added.

Dr. Vaughn also talked about his book, "Only Victims," which was published in March. This book is his doctoral dissertation which he edited to a readable length.

In this book he discusses the history of the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is now the House Internal

Podzemny Selected To All-Star Team

Mike Podzemny, the Canyon Eagles all state end, has been selected to play in the Texas High School Coaches Association All Star Game Aug. 3 in the Houston Astrodome.

MIKE PODZEMNY

Podzemny, the first Canyon gridder ever to be invited, will join the Canyon High School coaching staff in Houston, who will be attending the coaching clinic held in conjunction with the game. The All Star game is the only post season game of its type sanctioned by the University Interscholastic League.

During the season Podzemny snagged 53 aerials for 875 yards, scored seven touchdowns and kicked three field goals. During several district tilts, it was Podzemny's clutch catches that spurred the Eagles on to the district championship.

He was named to the first team District 1-AAA all district team, and the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal's All South Plains team before being named to three all state squads.

Podzemny was named to the first team all state squad of the Texas Sports Writers Assn. and the Fort Worth Star Telegram,

Wind Hits Happy Businesses-Homes

Gale-like winds swept Happy early Tuesday night doing extensive damage both in the business and residential areas.

Bill Andrews, city manager, said trees were uprooted and plate glass windows smashed while heavy damage was done to porches in the residential portion of the town.

He said blowing dust accompanied winds up to 70 miles an hour with gusts much higher.

Plate glass windows were smashed at Whitlow-Lee Lumber Company and Wallace Motor Company in the downtown area.

Walls and windows were damaged in a house belonging to Tom Moudy, Sr., in the vicinity of the football field. A half-dozen trees were felled with one damaging a parked car.

The Happy civil defense unit kept an eye on the cloud which came with the wind but no tornado alert was issued. Andrews said there were several whirlwinds as the wind changed directions a number of times but there was no apparent danger of a tornado.

Very little moisture came with the storm.

About .93 inches of rain was recorded in the southeast end of Palo Duro Park and some tree damage resulted from hail, according to park officials. One-half inch of rain was recorded at the park office with pea-sized hail.

Umbarger received a shower and some hail but no damage was reported and the Palisades had a small shower with no reports of hail.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Strife-torn, poverty-stricken Eagle Pass School District has been injected into the Texas gubernatorial race.

As far as state-wide politics were concerned, Dolph Briscoe was clean. He wasn't in Austin when the Sharpstown scandal broke.

But Briscoe was interested in some land in Maverick County and his name had been attached to a suit brought against Eagle Pass School District.

There's bitterness in Eagle Pass. Urban people and farmers sending their kids to Eagle Pass School felt the non-resident ranchers weren't carrying their share of the tax load.

The school called in an appraiser back in 1968 and pegged the range land at about $34 an acre. The ranchers thought this was too high for land so poor that 20 acres was needed to support a cow.

The ranchers seem to have been dissatisfied with the appraiser, Jim McMorries, whose appraisals raised a ruckus in our own community a few years back.

The ranchers went to court to get an injunction. They lost all the way up to the Supreme Court of Texas. The case dragged on for three years and in the meantime the school was heavily in debt to an Eagle Pass bank. The school owed the bank about $300,000.

According to school officials, the bank notified the school as the term drew to a close in 1970 that it could advance only $100,000 more.

The ranchers had withheld their taxes since filing of the suit and were reported by school officials to have owed the school $400,000 by that time.

They continued to hold out announcing plans to try the case on its merits.

Here different stories emerge as to how the case was settled.

David Hume, attorney who handled the case successfully for the school, said Briscoe was the hero at that point talking disgruntled ranchers into paying up their taxes.

Frank Irwin, controversial University of Texas regent and Ben Barnes supporter, went to Maverick County and apparently developed the story released by H.M. Baggarly, Tulia editor, hours after the Barnes campaign train puffed through Tulia.

This version made a villain out of Briscoe. It painted him as a land baron devoid of social responsibility who withheld school taxes in order to force the Eagle Pass School District to the wall.

School officials say Irwin spent a great deal of time in Eagle Pass probing school records.

Barnes people must have thought it pretty crucial for a man as important as Frank Irwin to spend so much time on it.

Also, there is something downright ludicrous about a situation that makes liberal-baiting Frank Irwin a bedfellow of Ralph Yarborough—loving H.M. Baggarly.

As I said before, stories differ on the now much-publicized tax case.

According to school officials, the ranchers made a deal to pay their taxes for the three years involved but penalty and interest only for the first two years.

Also as a part of the bargain, the district hired a Houston appraising firm which finally set the value of the land at about $40 an acre—a figure accepted by the land holders.

The Maverick County fight is one that has been going on between urban and rural people over the entire state for the past two decades at least.

Everyone who has read this newspaper knows that it has been going on here in Randall County at least since 1960.

City people think farmers and ranchers should pay taxes on what land would bring on the open market. The farmers and ranchers think it should be taxed according to the income it will produce.

There is even talk of legislation that would make production a criteria in setting taxes on agricultural and ranching lands across the state.

This appears to be the battle that's going on at Eagle Pass and it seems like dirty pool to single out one man and accuse him when there are thousands involved in the same type of controversy all over Texas.

From what I can gather by talking to Eagle Pass folks on the telephone, it is a community divided against itself. Even on the settling of the taxes so the school could open, the school board was divided.

Eagle Pass has had six school superintendents in the past seven years and I understand that the current superintendent has submitted his resignation.

John Minney, a small land holder who served on the equalization board, speaks with open bitterness about the land barons who control so much of the school district's real estate.

A school official who would not be quoted was equally bitter blaming much of the school district's troubles on the large land owners. He was certain that Barnes would carry Maverick County.

Hume, who squared off against the ranchers in court, is just as certain that the county will go for Briscoe May 6.

As a columnist, this is my candid observation.

Ben Barnes looks upon Dolph Briscoe as his arch rival for the governor's mansion. Barnes was divorced and remarried not too long ago. This alone wouldn't hurt him much but it does figure in some.

The thing that makes Candidate Barnes toss and turn in his sleep is the fact that —innocent or not and I do not say he is not innocent— he was there in a position of power and authority while the path was being beaten to Sharpstown.

I do say that after serving almost a decade as speaker of the Texas House and lieutenant governor, if he did not know something was amiss in events that finally led to the conviction of Speaker Gus Mutscher then he's the dumbest lieutenant governor who ever pounded a gavel in the Texas Senate.

This being the case and no frontal assault on Briscoe being possible, Frank Irwin went to Eagle Pass and the story somehow was funneled to H.M. Baggarly, the "newsman" least likely in this state to check it before committing it to print.

This diversionary tactic backfired just like Ben's proposed trip to parley with the North Vietnamese backfired when The Canyon News started digging into the other side.

I don't see how I could check the story further. I have talked to both sides. From what I can discern by telephone, I found a community so torn and angry that it hasn't been very successful in running any phase of its school system for the past several years.

I don't blame the townspeople and I don't blame the ranchers. I can't find fault with either side for going to court. Every man is entitled to his day in court if he has a grievance—that's the American way.

I do find something to admire in both the school authorities and the ranchers. Both swallowed their pride and found a way to settle when it became apparent that the school children of Eagle Pass were in jeopardy.

Smith Gets High Honor

Dr. Emmitt D. Smith, dean of the College of Education at West Texas State University, is the first recipient of the newly inaugurated Ben E. Coody Distinguished Service Award to teacher education.

The award was presented by the Texas Association of Teacher Educators at its convention in Galveston Saturday.

Dr. Coody, active in student teacher work as a faculty member at North Texas State University, was killed in a traffic accident about 18 months ago. He was a former president of the TATE.

Dr. Jarrell Gray of East Texas State University, outgoing president of the TATE, said the award was established "to recognize an individual who made significant contributions in the field of teacher education in Texas."

Smith became dean of the College of Education last fall after serving as vice president for program development and research at WTSU.

He is statewide coordinator of the new Texas Teacher Center Project, a program designed to acquaint professors of education with new teaching methods.

He joined the West Texas State faculty in 1949 as associate professor of education and director of student teaching.

THE BREAKFAST egg can serve several purposes, Mrs. M. E. Nelson of Claude relates.

When the egg is "emptied" for use, run your finger around inside the shell and scrape out the egg white that is clinging there, rub this on your face-across the laugh lines around your eyes, even the droop lines around your mouth, under your chin if lines tend to sag there.

This will give you an instant facial! Soon the lines will begin to tighten and your eyes will open wider, your mouth will have an uplift and yet it will not show; just be like a light dusting of powder when it dries.

Cassie usually scrambles the egg and puts it into the oven at the same time she does the toast "there's no watching or stirring and you have a well done or soft omelet....owing to your preference. This saves nerves and gives you time for other chores.

When breakfast comes out of the oven; turn the heat off then place the egg shells in there, to be dried by the residue heat. Later they are crushed by rolling them in a bread wrapper with a rolling pin then fed to the birds. "Robins are especially fond of the shells."

If you are not feeding birds use the crushed egg shells in the soil. They will give the earth phosporus and are good for aeration.

"Dig them into flower beds or scatter them where they will be gradually dug into the soil," she notes.

Canyon Youth Is Critical

A 16-year-old Canyon youth was seriously injured about 10:30 a.m. Sunday when a steer charged the horse he was riding while cutting cattle at Randall County Feed Yard.

Darrell Winterfield, a feedlot employe who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Winterfield of Route 2, Canyon, received severe head injuries when his horse flipped on top of him, said Mrs. Winterfield and feedlot witnesses.

The youth remained in critical condition in the intensive-care ward of Amarillo's Northwest Texas Hospital, and nurses said outlook for his recovery was "uncertain," pending further treatment.

Mrs. Winterfield reported: "They were cutting cattle and when the steer charged, apparently, he was thrown over the horse's head. He apparently was able to push himself out of his saddle."

She and spokesmen for Randall County Feed Yard said the horse flipped head-first onto young Winterfield. "The horse turned a somersault right down on him," the mother added.

Mrs. Winterfield said her son has seemed accident-prone, as about a year ago, he was seriously burned in a flash fire in a vacation trailer.

A LaGrone ambulance picked up the injured youth at approximately 10:45 a.m. Sunday, spokesmen for the funeral home said.

Young Winterfield is not allowed visitors at the hospital, Mrs. Winterfield reported. However, she added, that will change if his condition improves.

Mrs. Winterfield reported later that after lying unconscious in the hospital's ITC unit since the mishap her son had regained consciousness and said he wanted to go home.

She said that development indicated improvement in the youth's condition and heartened family members.

Buff Netters Set Match With Odessa

West Texas State's tennis team, minus number two player Mike Bolton and number five man Steve Bailey, will host Odessa College at 2 p.m. Friday.

Bolton left Tuesday to compete Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Vancouver for the Canadian Davis Cup team. Bailey is still recovering from mononucleosis.

The Buffaloes pushed their season record to 18-7 with a pair of wins last week in the West Texas State Team Matches. The Buffs downed the Air Force Academy and New Mexico State, but fell to the University of New Mexico.

Bolton has a 18-7 record for the year and Bailey supports a 12-4 mark.

Number one man Paul Tobin has a 17-7 mark. John Phillips, in the number three position, is 15-10 for the season. Dale Corbin has a 21-4 mark and Joe Carrick stands 13-4. John Michie has a 3-4 record in singles.

In doubles, Tobin and Phillips have a 17-9 record and Bolton and Corbin are 23-2. Bailey and Carrick have a 7-2 standard, while Carrick and Michie are 2-4.

WT Business Awards Given

Awards were presented by Dr. Eldon Lewis, dean of the school.

Mrs. Mary Ann Davis was named outstanding BBA graduate and received an award from the Panhandle Chapter of the Texas Society for Certified Public Accountants and the Alpha Kappa Psi Award.

Gary Lee Hammonds received recognition as the outstanding MBA graduate. Now a lieutenant on active duty with the Army, Hammonds received his master's degree last August.

Other special awards went to Rex Lawson, Amarillo Traffic Club Award; Wynelle Frame, Data Processing Management Association Award; Steve Bavousett, Dow Publishing Co. Award; Karen Johnson Wooten, National Business Education Association Award, and Karen Hardison, National Secretaries Association Scholarship.

Outstanding students in each area were John R. Griffin, business administration; Clare C. Yates, business education; Miss Frame, data processing; Henry A. Gill, Economics; Bavousett, finance; Theodore J. Keller, management; Donald P. Roach, marketing, and James L. West, transportation.

Lester Stalter Loses Fingers To Saw

Lester Stalter, 46-year-old Canyon man, was admitted to High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo about 8 a.m. Wednesday for treatment of injuries he received about 7:20 a.m. while he worked with a skill saw at his greenhouse located north of the city.

Hospital attendants said Stalter lost two fingers of his left hand by amputation, with a third finger partially amputated.

He was expected to be hospitalized for at least one day, hospital attendants said.

Stalter, contacted in his room following the mishap, said he accidentally stuck his hand in a skill saw while cutting strips of geranium plants at the greenhouse.

He said he dashed to the trailer home of a friend, Danny Riemer, who rushed the victim to the Amarillo hospital. Two unidentified West Texas State security officers happened nearby, and gave escort a part of the distance from the expressway to the hospital.

"They were wonderful," he said of the unexpected help given him during the emergency.

McCasland said the cattle have been inspected many times and the entire herd is inspected every time any part of the herd is moved.

The new rules for cattle dipping provide for dipping of all cattle in movement except those animals that:

Are moving directly to slaughter, are moving to slaughter through a livestock market, are moving to a livestock market for sale and dipping prior to release,

Are released from a livestock market to a dip point with an official permit, are moving to an official dipping point, have been dipped within the past seven days, are from a non-control area moving through the control area with no stopovers,

Are being moved by the same owner from one place to another within the quarantined area, have been dipped within seven days from scabies-infested states with permit or with a permit to be dipped upon arrival, or are from a non-control area being moved into the control area for grazing.

"By virtue of the fact we had open and public meetings and a great deal of publicity over the state, we certainly hope the legislature will give our efforts every consideration and look closely at what we have done," Dowlen declared.

"This is probably the most important committee in the legislature and I had hoped to someday be on it. I had not dreamed I'd be placed on the committee during my first year in office."

Dr. Smith said the teacher education program will conduct a self-study for accreditation by the National Council in 1972-73 and the visitation will occur in the fall of 1973.

"It is advisable that the dean who is in the office during visitation should have the dean a year before the visitation," Dr. Smith stated. "For continuity, it seemed advisable to make the change now instead of next year," Dr. Smith added.

Dr. Smith will have reached the mandatory age for retirement from an administrative position at WTSU in September of 1973.

City Woman Bakes Cakes In New Shop

Linda Pinkerton is not only a doll-maker, but also a cook.

She combines her two talents in order to start a new business in Canyon.

Her new cake shop is located at her home, 904 4th Ave.—and already orders are pouring in for her doll cakes, wedding cakes, and cupcakes.

Assisting her in the new business is Wanda Dieterich, Mrs. Pinkerton's student. "She's doing real well learning how to do what I do," said Linda.

The doll-cakes and wedding cakes are her specialty items. Particularly, she enjoys doing the wedding cakes, she added.

Linda has lived in Canyon for about five months. Her husband, Leland, is employed with Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Her work, she said, "looks good, but I want it to taste good—that's the main thing."

She concluded by saying: "I started this as a hobby for my family, but I got so involved that I found it was 'my thing'."

Man Buys Suit For WT Event

Dennis Blair, 83, of Calgary, Canada, hasn't bought a new suit since the early 1920's.

But he recently told his son-in-law, Edward R. (Ted) Rhodes of Canyon that he intends to buy a new one as a special gesture when he comes to attend graduation ceremonies at West Texas State University in May.

Blair intends to travel down to Texas with other family members to watch young Rhodes get his bachelor's degree.

The WT senior said the elderly man told him about purchase of the suit during a recent telephone conversation.

Rhodes said the upcoming graduation festivities will climax his college stay in Canyon; that he and his family will return to Calgary immediately afterward.

Rhodes said he and wife, Donna, sold their home and furniture back in 1968 in Calgary in order to come to West Texas to get a college degree.

Now they plan to go "home," although they'll miss Canyon.

Rhodes said the family will leave this "warm climate" for a much cooler one. He said winters here are like summer, compared to those in Canada.

He has taken a job as a petroleum landman with Dome Petroleum Co. of Canada.

The couple said they had enjoyed the stay in Canyon during college days, and that: "We'll miss the warm weather in the wintertime, and the people, too."

"This is the most important money raising project the Little League has so we really need all the help we can get," Pruett added.

Rosters for the eight and nine year old league are now being made up. The roster will be announced May 15.

Seven Girl Eagles Qualify For Regional Track Meet

Seven Canyon Girl Eagle tracksters qualified their first district meet in Panhandle last weekend and will journey to Abilene Friday for the regional track meet to be held on the Abilene Christian College campus.

Lynn Davis, Alishia Nelson, Sheila Tomason, Rhonda Umberson, Judy McBroom, Joy Williams and Kathy Lewis placed second in their respective events to qualify for the regional tourney.

Preliminaries will begin at 2 p.m. Friday and finals will start at 2 p.m. Saturday in Abilene.

Miss Davis leaped 15-7½ to finish second in the long jump. Miss Nelson was clocked at 11.4 in the 80-yard hurdles and also finished second.

Miss Tomason, Miss Umberson, Miss Davis and Miss McBroom will represent Canyon in the sprint relay. They ran a 53.2 in that event at the district meet.

Miss Williams ran a 62.6 440, a second and one-half off her best time of the season, to place second.

The mile relay team, consisting of Miss Davis, Miss Williams, Miss Nelson and Miss Lewis ripped off a 4:19.2 and were second in that event.

Miss Williams heaved the discus 90-11¼ to a third place finish, while Miss Tomason jumped 32-4 in the triple jump to finish fourth. Neither of the girls qualified for regional in those events.

The Eagles took fourth, fifth and sixth places in the high jump as Miss Davis, Miss McBroom and Susan Cox all cleared the bar at 4-4. Nancy Reynolds ran a 13.3 for a sixth place in the 80-yard hurdles. Debbie Jesko was clocked at 2:41.2 in the 880 while Miss Cox was clocked in 2:44.2 in that event for a fifth and sixth place finish respectively.

Miss Tomason was clocked at 7.6 in the 60-yard dash, good enough for a fifth place.

The Eagles finished third in the team standings, while defending champion Panhandle took the crown again. Borger finished second in the point standings.

WT Wins Over New Mexico

West Texas State University's baseball team swept a four-game series this past weekend in Amarillo against New Mexico Highlands and pushed its season record to 21-6.

The Buffaloes downed their visitors Friday, 2-1 and 3-1, and took Saturday's games, 7-5 and 3-2.

West Texas hosts Eastern New Mexico University in a four-game set this Friday and Saturday in Amarillo's Memorial Stadium. The Friday games start at 1 p.m. and the Saturday doubleheader starts at 11 a.m.

Umbarger News Carnival A Success

BY SUSAN DOLLE

THE SPRINGTIME Carnival held by the Catholic Youth Organization of St. Mary's Church last Sunday was a success. A middle-sized crowd enjoyed the booths and games manned by the teen-agers. The hall was decorated with streamers and refreshments were served by the parish woman's group. Proceeds from the afternoon affair will be donated to the children's home in Panhandle.

WINNERS OF the carnival's prizes were Mrs. Willie Wieck who won a chain lamp, six-year-old Jeanette Crotegut who won the door prize, and Joan Frische, winner of the transistor radio awarded for the closest bean guess. The youth organization is grateful to all who helped make the event successful. A very hard worker for the day was Mrs. Joe Wieck who donated stuffed animals for the novelty booth. All animals not sold will be given to the children at the home.

TRAVELERS IN the month of April include Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Adams and Gerald Adams who returned recently from a two-week trip to the Pacific states. They enjoyed the sights in Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe, Sacramento and Spokane. Relatives visited include Betty Watson and family of Lancaster, Calif. Louise Reagan of Hunting Beach, Calif., Floyd Leard of Sacramento, and Kenneth Adams of Spokane, Wash.

THE ADAMS brothers, Darroll, Carroll, Dean and Gerald also traveled to Stratford, Okla. last week to visit their father who has been ill.

MR. AND MRS. Vincent Meyer, Sr. are in Kansas City for a ten-day stay to visit brothers and sisters in that area.

MR. AND MRS. Ben Buecker celebrated their thirty-seventh anniversary this week.

SOME GOOD citizens whose farming operations include land north of Umbarger are wondering why the bridges crossing Palo Duro Creek are still of the 1924 variety. The only way to get their wide equipment across the 17-foot bridges is to load them on a trailer or go the long way around by way of Dawn or Canyon. Maybe the commissioners court could look into the possibility of making the bridges as modern as the farm equipment.

THE PRESENT moon trek has been as progressive as ever. The live coverage was fantastically clear and precisely planned. The scientific achievements are more than this writer can comprehend but one thing is understandable as ever. Whenever the universe reveals one of its long-kept secrets, it shows the wisdom of its Designer. Everytime frail man looks diligently for an answer to one of his questions, it can be found; the answer has been lying in wait for eons, centuries before man thought of the question. To me, scientific achievement does not negate the possibility of God; it increases His probability.

Palisades Palaver

Men Repair Palisades Road

BY VICKI HOOKER

A BIG THANK you to all of our men who have helped on our roads for the last couple of weeks. It's really surprising what a little asphalt will do, isn't it? However, there is one thing that troubles me. Where are we going to practice our trick driving now that we no longer have those chug holes to dodge? Really, though, we do appreciate all the work you men have done, and we'd like to thank Gene Webb for the use of his truck which hauled the asphalt.

SOMEONE, I'M NOT certain who has donated another flatcar for our bridge on the north side. As soon as possible Johnny Conway will bring it down and put both cars in place for a nominal fee of $100.00. The tops of the cars will then be cemented and we'll soon be back in business.

THOSE BIG BOOMS you've been hearing lately are not sonic booms, nor are they the result of Lum Edward's dynamiting feats because Lum is on vacation! They are coming from the west side of the Canyon where a land development project is underway, in case you haven't noticed. Mr. Pete Hudson, who lives in the house next to the gate, in cooperation with W. C. Roberts Lumber Company, is working on making the housing development of Timberlake Crossing a reality. And it will probably be a very beautiful community because it is in a very lovely section of the canyon. Mr. Hudson says he plans to dam up the creek, but he didn't say how, where or when.

LOTS ARE NOT being sold in Timberlake Crossing yet but they probably will be very soon, and we in the Palisades can look forward to having many new neighbors.

THE HOME DEMONSTRATION Club met last week June Hooker's and we were pleased to have with us two old members, Judy Webb and Joyce McDonald. We also had two guests, Ann Johnson, daughter of Wanda Johnson, and Becky Guess, daughter-in-law of Reba Guess.

EVERYONE ENJOYED A delicious lunch, and afterwards we all gathered around the snack bar to watch Beverly Norman demonstrate how to make bread dough flowers. It wasn't long before we all had our hands in the sticky dough trying to make tiny roses, tulips, daisies, mushrooms, and other assorted items. Working with the dough to make those tiny flowers is a tedious process, and as Beverly said, "you don't really appreciate these until you've tried to make one yourself." Lorraine Inman had the right idea though. She made a giant rose about 10 times bigger than the rest of them, and it turned out beautifully!

WE ALL HAD a very good time and even learned something in the process! Including our guests there were 16 present.

THE MAY DAY Luncheon will take the place of our first May meeting. The luncheon will be Monday, May 1, at 11:30 a.m. in the First Baptist Church of Canyon. The price is $1.75 per plate, so don't forget to come. You'll have a chance to meet members of other clubs and find out what they are doing, and maybe get some ideas for our club.

TWO BOYS IN the Palisades made news on their motorcycles this past weekend. Ricky Jackson rode his new Honda at the drags Saturday night and won a first place trophy. It was his first time to race a cycle on the quarter mile.

RANDY CARTHEL RAN short track in Lubbock over the weekend and did very well. According to his grandmother, Irene Parker, it was the best racing he had ever done. He rode his 250 Assa in the professional races and won two second places! In the non-professionals he rode his 125 Penton and won first place.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THESE two boys.

MANY OF YOU may have noticed a "sold" sign in front of the Parkers' house. Well, they have found a buyer, and they should know for sure by the end of next week if they can close the deal. Irene and Jack are not sure what they are going to do, but they are considering buying a trailer and moving it closer to town. We certainly hate to lose them as neighbors, but as Irene said, "With all the relatives we have down here, I know we'll be back often."

PAUL McDONALD HAS been on vacation this week, but he hasn't been resting! Joyce has kept him busy on some home improvements. They had a patio poured this week, and that's probably just the beginning! If you two get through down there and can't find anything to do, come on up. I'll put you to work!

GARLAND AND MILDRED Turner had company again this week. This time it was Garland's brother, Paul, and his wife, Esther, from California They visited with Garland and Mildred Tuesday and Wednesday, and have also spent some time with Garland's other brother, Bennie, who lives in Amarillo, and Esther's sister, Mrs. Leroy Pitt of Canyon.

THAT'S ALL THE Palisades News for this week. Lake Tanglewood residents are doing well with their newstips, and I hope they are enjoying reading about their community.

Police Arrest Two Suspects

Canyon Police arrested two high school youths, both 16-years of age, Monday in connection with a series of thefts involving stereo tapes taken from parked autos.

Both were turned over to county juvenile authorities, who in turn released the youths to parents, said Chief Al Stewart.

Chief Stewart said police discovered some 70 tapes in an auto driven by youths taken into custody last Saturday for possession of alchoholic beverages.

A further investigation resulted in arrest of the youths at Canyon High School on Monday.

Bob Warren, 1102 Hilcrest, won $250 worth of grocery credit given in a contest by Cooper's Market. Warren said he and his wife, Marilyn, and daughter, Paige, 17, will enjoy the food benefits as result of his "unbelievable luck," he said.

WE STOCK BOTH FAST AND SLOW SELLERS

Recent news stories told how supermarkets and discount firms are telling manufacturers: "Sell us only your fast sellers. We are weeding out all others." Their reason is that the small amounts sold of slow sellers are not profitable.

This is true, but sometimes slow selling products can be very important to the persons who need them. There are hundreds of them in our pharmacy that sell only about a dozen of each a year. We buy only a quarter of a dozen at a time and re-order when they are sold. Our reputation is to have whatever you ask for. If we don't have your favorite, tell us.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Woman Loves Children...Flowers

By MARY NEAL HENRY

Anna Mae McManigal loves children-and just people in general. On Monday, she shared the garden of bluebonnets she and her husband grew with 128 school children in Kindergarten, first thru third grades and special education classes.

Each child was served a cupcake decorated with a bluebonnet fashioned from construction paper and stapled to a straw inserted in the center. A bluebonnet was also pinned on each child. A list of things to look for was given the children at school to make the tour more interesting.

The garden of bluebonnets is over twenty years old. Anna Mae says that it took over fifteen years for them to be really thick and pretty and that it is Hobart's flower garden. She gives him all the credit for the beautiful yard. Anna Mae explained the bluebonnets, different types of flowers and trees. They have one apple tree that produced about thirty bushels of apples last year.

The children also got to see Hobart's "wild" collection of geese, crane, snow geese, ducks, Bantam chickens, chukkers, pheasants and turkey. Anna Mae fixed a 'Texas Table" that held items of interest such as rattle snake rattlers, turkey beards, oil lamp, unusual rocks, minature replica of Alamo, Texas flag and a blue "sun" bonnet on a wig head.

Anna Mae doesn't remember how long she has been doing this for the children of Happy, but it has been more than seven years. Mrs. O. H. Rahlfs and Mrs. John Toles have helped her in more recent years.

Hobart McManigal moved here when he was only five and married Anna Mae McClure forty-three years ago. They have three children. Anna Mae gives Hobart a birthday dinner every year and invites all his friends, most of whom also enjoy hunting and wild life; she decorates special for the children on Halloween and serves them something special; and is one who never fails to lend a helping hand to friend or stranger.

Going somewhere? Or been? The Canyon News wants to know about it--and so do its readers.

Three Teachers Honored

John A. Jackson, principal of Hilltop School in Amarillo, and two senior education students at West Texas State University have been honored by the Amarillo Field Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary education fraternity for men.

Jackson, a school principal for nearly 40 years and treasurer of the Amarillo chapter for seven years, was presented the Phi Delta Kappa Award as the chapter's man of the year.

Mrs. Betty Jean Garcia, 33, of White Deer and Miss Betty Ely Irwin, 39, of Dumas received the Outstanding Student Teacher's Award in elementary and secondary education, respectively.

Both women are candidates for bachelor's degrees at next month's graduation ceremonies and are members of Alpha Chi, national scholastic honor society.

The selections were based upon classroom performance in their student teaching, academics, participation in campus activities and their potential as outstnnding teachers.

Jackson was graduated with a bachelor's degree by Texas College at Tyler and received a Master of Education Degree from the University of Colorado. He has done additional study at Denver University.

Dr. E. B. Posey, director of teacher certification at WTSU, and Jackson were renamed historian and treasurer, respectively.

Phi Delta Kappa also recognized 17 other prospective teachers in the College of Education at WTSU as outstanding in their area of academic subject matter. They were:

Mrs. Cheri Roberts, 20, of Schaeffer Trailer Park; Rachel Toscano, 21, daughter of Mrs. Anita Franco, of Skidmore; Mrs. Janice Lynn Wilks, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Holley, of Houston; and Mrs. Alice Jean Wright, 22, of 2415 13th Ave.

Raymond S. Bowen, 44, of Amarillo; Mrs. Diana Lee Brown, 21, of 1310 8th St; Mrs. Dorothy Ann Brownlow, 37, of Hereford; Mrs. Sandra Dale, 33, of Amarillo; Don S. Engbers, 28 of Amarillo; Cynthia E. Goodman, 20 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Goodman, of Amarillo; Alfred N. Green III, 21, of Bayless Trailer Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Triplett, Mary and Charlie of Claude, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Triplett.

Other guests during the past week have been Richard Triplett of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Triplett, Mrs. Roy Mickey and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Triplett.

Tow Attends Cycle School

BY TOOTIE BYBEE

HELLO EVERYONE wherever you happen to be at this time. First, let me say I'm sorry about the short amount of news at this writing. But guess who has been ill? That's right, that little ole news writer me. So, have been unable to get too much news this week. Hope next week will bring a bit more cheerful news of the happenings in this little oasis of ours. So, what little I've heard or seen is herein given:

HAPPY BELATED birthday to Michal Whitehead. Hope you have a heap more just as merry as this year's.

LEROY AND BARBARA Evans with their two daughters took a quick weekend trip down to Brownfield to check on Barbara's mother who has been very ill. Glad to report she is a whole lot better.

MIKE TOW ATTENDED the Motorcross School in Amarillo Saturday, although he really doesn't need a whole lot of instruction as he is really great on a motor now. I.J. enjoyed the day at the river hunting arrow heads and artifacts. They rode in the races at the pit Sunday. They are preparing for the Memphis enduro this week and plan to take daughter Dana along to ride also. Good Luck to you all!!

LITTLE MIKE MORGAN is still in Northwest Texas Hospital but much improved. Hope he will be back home real soon and all better.

THE CAMP FIRE Girls met this week with the Blue Birds and made foil dinners for their camp out at Don Harrington next week. They will also be participating in the project S.O.A.R. on Saturday. This is Save Our American Resources sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America. They will earn lovely Ecology type badges for their Ceremonial Costumes. Six of the girls have already saved coupons from certain products and sent them in to help plant a National Children's Forest in Missouri. This forest will be planted entirely by children who send in certain product labels and our girls are so privileged to be a part. Those who planted one or two trees apiece were: Kay Tow, Traca Cooper, Glenna Evans, Cristie Jones, Leslie Bybee and Lenise Bybee. They all received lovely Ecology Posters for their rooms for participating. Wish we were all as dedicated to the idea of Ecology as the kiddoes.

WANT TO SAY Congratulations to Cindy Buckles who walked 15 miles for the "Walk for the March of Dimes" campaign. She had a whole batch of sponsors and made quite a bit for this worthwhile project.

THE MORELANDS made a fast trip to Oklahoma City this weekend and took their horse with them. Barbara said she was just a mite tired from it all. Her Mom and Dad were here just for a short visit Monday afternoon and it made all of them real happy to get together this little while.

THE LTC (LADIES THURSDAY CLUB) met as usual on Thursday at Betty Malson's home and had a real great time together, minus a member or two due to illness, including myself. Told me they had a real delicious and different lunch, Sauerkraut Sandwiches. They work on several projects and some sewing.

SOME INTERESTING THINGS I have noticed this week: The Borens have a new project started this week. Looks like a new building in the back yard and a lovely lawn and landscaping being done up real well. The boys across the street from the Burdettes', their lawn is really coming up great after scraping off all the old grass and starting out all new. Mr. Rogers' fence around the front yard is so very pretty. The rock garden in front of the Allens' and the Barrons' homes are just lovely as several of the flowers are starting to bloom. The Coopers' and Holmans' yards look like they have been professionally manicured with all the tender loving care they receive. It all looks so lovely. The Roger Whiteheads look like they are living in a brand new house with all the additions and decorating they are doing, and I know they are so very proud of it. Of course, as always, the Woods' place on the corner just looks like the Garden of Eden to me. Just beautiful.

WELL, I'LL SEE you all next week same time and same place. Be good to yourself as well as to others.

ONE LAST WORD: to Blanche Hudson: Just 3 more weeks. Or is it two??

May 1 Is Deadline To Render Property

May 1 is the deadline for rendering property with the Randall County tax assessor-collector, according to Mrs. Audrey Bruse.

Randall County residents should claim their homestead if they meet the requirements, Mrs. Bruse added.

Mrs. Bruse said several farmers have not yet rendered their personal property and farm equipment. If the property is not rendered by May 1 the tax assessor-collector will assess the value of the property, Mrs. Bruse said.

Waters Signs With Buffaloes

Glen Waters, an all-district center from Brownfield, has signed an athletic scholarship agreement with West Texas State University.

The 6-3, 220-pounder lettered three years in football at Brownfield High for coach Harold Teal and was a starter for two years.

Waters was All-District 3-AAA this past season and was named to the All-South Plains team.

"Glen is the best offensive player we have had here in three years," said Teal. "He runs the 40-yard dash in 5.0 and is consistant with his offensive player."

On defense Waters was a starter at tackle.

Patton Opens New Vat Facility East Of Canyon

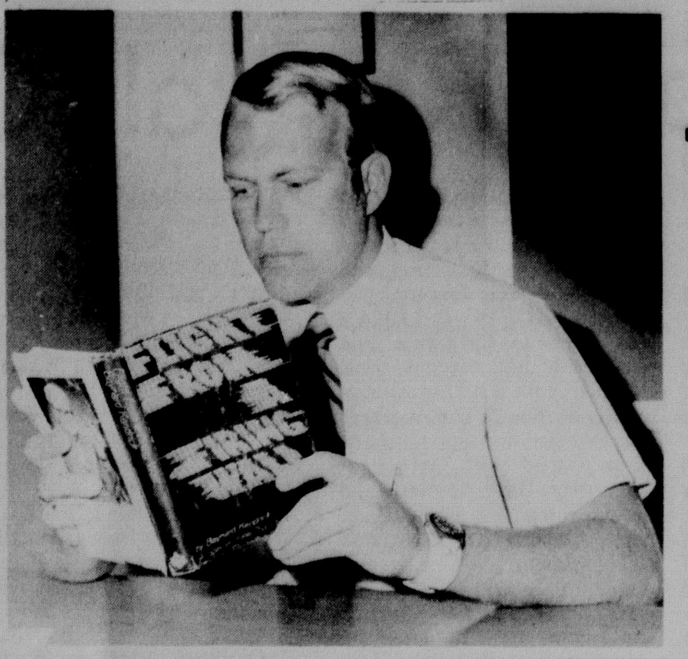
W. A. (Pat) Patton opened his new dipping facility east of Canyon Monday, as two heards from neighboring ranches showed up "cattle-drive style" early Monday.

Cattle are being dipped to protect animals from the disease of scabies. State authorities have placed 34 Texas Panhandle counties under quarantine.

By June, all cattle in the county must have been dipped as required in this county.

Cattle are dipped in special chemicals designed to destroy dormant scabies germs, in an effort to head off any potential epidemic later during winter months.

A calf swims through scabies-kiling chemicals at the dipping facility of W.A. (Pat) Patton, east of the city. Another, bigger critter is shown getting ready for the big splash and forced swim. Patton began dipping operations Monday, and two herds were processed this week, as the drive to kill dormant scabies germs in Randall County continues.



B. B. Kendrick studies a copy of his grandfather's mystery novel, one of some 40 written through the years. The Canyon resident's grandfather is Baynard Hardwick Kendrick, father of Baynard Hardwick Kendrick Jr. B.B. said this week he hopes to see his grandfather sometime next summer.

Writer Fights Woes To Gain Fame At 78

By LEWARD HOOD

Long years of discouragement and rejection spelled success for Baynard Hardwick Kendrick.

He is one man who has proved he could be "bigger than anything that hit him."

The 78-year-old mystery writer—grandfather of B. B. Kendrick of Canyon, once had a tough time finding a publisher for his material.

But not so, now.

Canyon residents who may watch the television series known as "Longstreet" see his work, although it's in the elusive background.

"Longstreet" is taken from the elder Kendrick's mystery series based on the character of the blind investigator. The series of novels is Duncan Maclain Mysteries, published over the years by Baynard Hardwick Kendrick.

"He has published some 40 mystery novels," said B. B. Kendrick of his grandfather's work. I call him "Dad Kendrick. He also founded the organization of Mystery Writers of America."

The Duncan Maclain series is over, he said his grandfather told him. "Now he's writing history books in Florida." The grandson also wished to point out that this writer donated some $30,000 toward establishment of the Blinded Veterans' Association. That sum was taken from money he received from movie rights involving "Bright Victory," a film taken from his novel called "Lights Out."

Speaking of the dark early years when his grandfather fought to achieve some measure of success in his writing, B. B. Kendrick noted that "Dad Kendrick" was among that breed of writers who chose to "defend their work" when those in the book trade sought to "lick" or change his fiction.

Too, B. B. Kendrick noted, "He's written more than 100 short stories. He published his first in 1926, a story written for "Field and Stream."

"I've only seen him about four times in my life," he went on. "But I got to see him last October and he told me he was now working on a book called "Mulberry Castle." This work, he said, is a historical novel concerning Florida and the Southeastern United States (the writer's favorite "country").

B. B. added that his grandfather always was an "individualist," and showed off a letter from the writer, which ended: "Best love in the world from your everlovin' cotton-pickin' Grandad, Baynard."

"I'm sure proud of him," B. B. concluded.

MRS. DORIS GILLHAM rode back to California last week with her nephew, Don Hamblen. Don is selling swimming pools. Ron is also working with swimming pools out there. Doris visited with her great Aunt, Mrs. Dave Hamblen and her daughters, Velma and Lora; her sister, Nellie Burrow; and Nellie's daughters, June Cramer and Elaine Parish; and of course, Oleff Hamblen. It was a hurried trip, I understand, but an enjoyable one.

BEAULAH HURST HAS been to Little Rock, Arkansas to visit her daughter, Phyllis, and her family

MRS. METTIE COX celebrated her 89th birthday on April 19th. Happy Birthday, Mrs. Cox!

MARY JANE MILLER has returned home from Houston where she received a 'check-up" and visited Frances Anne and Glenn Miller and girls. They enjoyed the visit and Frances Anne and Glenn took Mary Jane to Shakey's to dine out one night she was there. They really enjoyed the music.

Sharon Dietz received her state degree and was presented a long stem red rose during the ceremony. Debbie McCarley was a voting delegate. Karen Hinton tried out for State pianist. The Theme of the convention was "We Can If I Will". I like that. A new program 'Encounter' is being introduced to FHA. There will be no more state degrees, but rather each school will set its own goals and the girls will give oral reports.

COLLEEN SCHAEFFER SHOWED me the 3-dimensional picture of flowers she'd done at Mrs. H. C. Bryan's party last week and it was pretty. I also saw a pillow case that Jennie Bryan was doing at home in blues. I believe she asid it was called 'blue onion'. Surely was pretty.

Homer and Willie Butler, their leader, took them out to the Kinsey farm where they found mice, lizards, toads, and a family of bull snakes. Homer insisted on keeping the bull snakes, but the boys brought all the other creatures to town, that is after Homer and Nora Kinsey had filled them with ice cream, cake and soda pop. The lucky boys to go on this big event were Mark Tackitt, Scott Railsback, David Lane, Rod and David Walker, Greg Hampton, Bill Cope, Montie Johnson, Jerry Sims, Kevin and Kyle Odom. Del Eades, J. D. Others attending were Mrs. Sidney Hall, Barbara Danner, Marcie Grabber and Mrs. Dexter Stokes. Mrs. Bill Hardy's opening address stated that our Home Demonstration clubs were weaker because of lack of leadership. This begins on a community and county level. The citizenship workshop urged women to attend their precinct conventions and to know the candidates and work for the one of your choice. Know what is going on in your community and in your county. Sounds as if it was a most profitable day for those who attended.

And Thursday night he was named Outstanding Agriculture Student at Canyon's FFA Banquet and received a "no-name" trophy for his farm-ranch-oriented work. When I think of Neil, I can't help but remember the day about dusk, that we thought he was hurt in the canyon and had every airplane in the territory starting out to look for him. He knows that canyon as I know my back yard. We knew he wasn't lost. Congratulations, Neil.

CATHY, BRENDA, DEBBIE Parker, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Parker, Shannon Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilhelm; and Lisa Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Payne, played in the National Piano Guild at the First Christian Church, last Friday. Keith and his wife are both in college at Pullman, Washington.

I SAW MRS. Wise in Canyon last week. It was good to see Mrs. Wise out. She has been very seriously ill.

After fried chicken, beans, potato salad, chop plate, and pie, the parents of the seniors presented a program, "The Legend of Instant Postum." Several Indians took part in this. You'd have had to see it to believe it. We also had a short "Baptist Tee-Hee". Ricky Hawthorne presented a reading accompanied by Royce Vernon on the piano. Brother Paul Heil then gave a devotional urging children to establish goals and to work for them, but first of all to find out what the Lord's will was in their lives.

Mrs. John Dorsey, who will receive the first bachelor's degree in industrial education which WTSU has ever given a woman, works at a lathe in the university's metal shop.

Mrs. Dorsey Earns Industrial Ed Degree

On May 6, Mrs. John Dorsey will become the first woman to receive a bachelor's degree in industrial education from West Texas State University.

"I'm just as pleased as I can be about it," said the slender Mrs. Dorsey, who is the mother of six, the grandmother of six, a part-time drafting teacher, and a draftsman for her husband, who is Randall County surveyor.

"But I'm seven years behind with my ironing," she added with a grin.

She went on more seriously, "I think parents should all have to go back to school as students and get re-acquainted with the students. They are absolutely great! I'm just real prejudiced about our department because we have working students over there. And the instructors—all of the good doctors over there—they're just great, really."

Mrs. Dorsey has been taking courses which will lead to teacher certification in the industrial area, including woodworking, electric power mechanics, and metals.

She started back to school when her youngest child started to school. She had attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute before coming to this area and began her second bout with education at Amarillo College, where she now teaches part-time in the drafting department.

One of her current courses involves running tests on actual versus stated horsepower in a variety of engines—plane, car, and small motors, like lawnmower motors.

Dr. Wallace Johnston, head of the Industrial Education Department said of his first feminine graduate, "She has been quite eager to learn in some of these classes which would not interest most women students on campus. Even in those areas where she was possibly not as interested as in her field of drafting, she approached it with a good attitude and a good spirit and encouraged others to do likewise."

S.P.R.Y. To Meet For Luncheon

Members of the S.P.R.Y. Club will meet Thursday at 11:30 a.m. for a covered-dish luncheon at First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. J. Frank Peery will give a devotional following lunch.

The public is invited.

Blanscet Gets STRP Fellowship

Gary W. Blanscet of Pampa has been awarded a fellowship by the Southern Regional Training program in Public Administration for 1972-73, the WTSU Department of Government announced this week. He is the first graduate of WT to be accepted as a fellow by the SRTP. Only six or seven fellowships are awarded each year in the Southern Regional Public Administration program, and, as a result of this high degree of selectivity, fewer than 180 have completed the program since World War II. The SRTP is a joint undertaking by the Universities of Alabama, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

Blanscet will receive his internship assignment at the University of Alabama early in June. Immediately after this, he will work in a state, local, or federal agency in the South for the remainder of this summer. The remaining three quarters will be devoted to public administration courses at the three schools. Upon completion of the year's work, interns are awarded a "Certificate of Public Administration."

Blanscet, a Government major, served as President of the WTSU Student Association his senior year.

Banquet Slated By WT Fraternity

Annual Founders' day banquet of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at West Texas State University is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Friday in the lodge east of town.

Guest speaker will be Kenneth N. Sloan Sr., vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank in Amarillo.

The banquet will commemorate the 107th anniversary of the national social fraternity.

WT Dorm Council Says Support WT--Go Home?

The Interresidence Hall Council of West Texas State University has decided to promote campus activities with the students living on campus.

The council, a group of students elected from each men's dorm to promote those dorms, have had several hundred bumper stickers printed saying "Support WT—Go Home?".

Perry McMillian, a member of the council said, the bumper stickers were printed to urge students to stay on campus on the weekends and support the organizations rather than going home.

"We have had very favorable response selling our stickers," he said. "The council has had to reorder twice and we have sold about 300 so far at 50 cents apiece.

"We are trying another way to fight apathy on campus. The student participation in campus functions is very low. We just hope this drive will bolster our dorm activities and the campus-wide activities," the Big Spring sophomore said.

The stickers are available from any Interresidence Hall Council member, according to McMillian.

Santa Fe Writer Visits City

By LEWARD HOOD

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and Museum are attracting more and more national attention these days.

Ask Santa Fe Writer-Photographer Lynne Waugh about that; she'll tell you.

She and her husband Jack were visitors in Canyon last week. While here, she was busy taking color photographs of historical lore and artifacts at the museum, while Jack was visiting Canyon old-timers who frequent the domino parlor downtown—in order to obtain material he will write for the Christian Science Monitor.

The husband-wife team, working from a headquarters home in Santa Fe, N.M., were to depart Canyon Saturday after obtaining their photographs and material for articles.

Lynne is shooting photos for Time-Life Inc. That firm currently is putting together "Cowboy Book, Volume I" as part of their Old West Series of books.

"The reason I'm here," Lynne said while visiting with Boone McClure Friday, "is because you have the most significant material we can find on cowboys. Anglo-frontier history still lives today, here in Canyon."

It is that "living history" that she sought to capture in her photographs.

"It's incredible, what's been done here (at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum)," she continued. "McClure's doggedness in collecting rare material is exceptional."

She said also that she and Jack were most impressed with the continuous "spirit" Panhandle people show in support of the Museum. "Look how many people here who are willing to contribute to your museum, while most museums must politic and so forth to get their collections. Here there is a lot of willingness on the part of the people to preserve what they have historically."

Lynne is art critic for the Santa Fe New Mexican. She and Jack travel widely in the United States, working as a team. The couple drives a camper.

"It's just like the old days when they used wagons," she said. "Road hazards are about the same...you can break a wheel."

Another observation she made this week was that she and Jack find the writing material available at the museum most inexhaustible. "It's really something...there are 650 stories here that I could write if I could stay here."

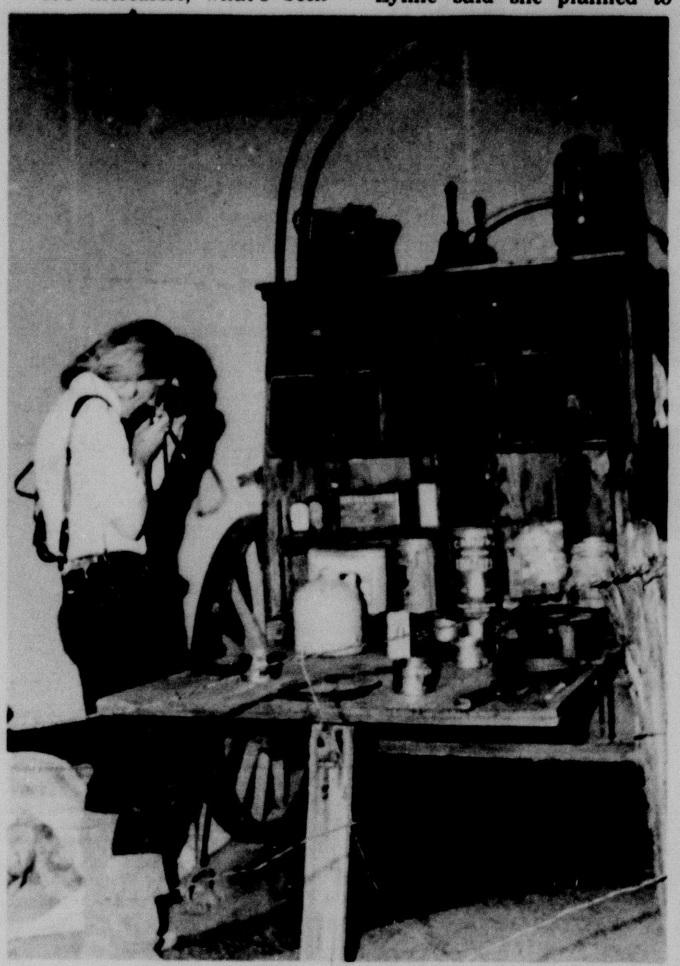
She said it was her opinion that Canyon in the future will become the focus and center of "cowboy culture" in the nation, although Oklahoma City already has the Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Lynne said she planned to write special articles on the collections of Western art on display here. These articles, she said, will appear as her column in the New Mexican at a later date.

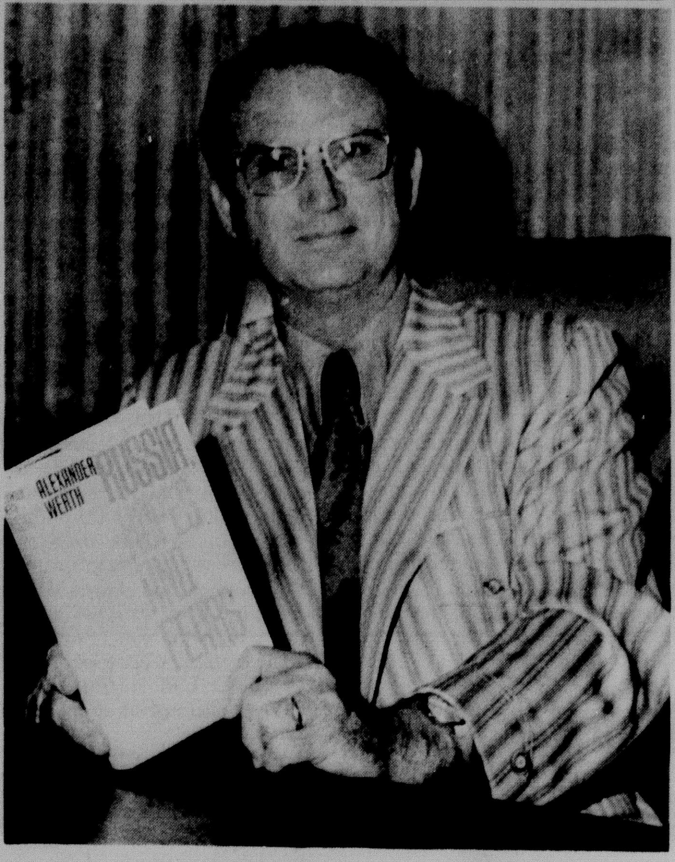
Husband Jack is a former bureau chief for the Los Angeles Times. He writes primarily about politics, said Lynne, and last week was gathering material involving the political feelings of Canyon residents—particularly the colorful types he'd planned to seek out among domino players downtown.

The high-spirited writer-photographer said she will be making additional trips to Canyon as work on the Western book series continues under direction of her New York editors.

Summing up her experience last week, she said it was her intention to capture in vivid color photography the Western heritage she has discovered among the Canyon museum's historical exhibits.



Pretty Lynne Waugh of Santa Fe, commissioned by Time-Life Inc. to photograph Western lore at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, is busy at work trying to capture the spirit of Frontier Texas. She and her husband, Jack, visited Canyon this week to obtain photos and material for articles and books.



Dr. Kenneth Laycock inspects one of the books he studied before his recent tour of Russia and Europe.

Russians Do What They Intend

Russian schools "accomplish their objectives," said Dr. Kenneth Laycock, recently returned from a tour of schools in Russia, Bulgaria, and Paris.

"We would not agree with their objectives," which are those which make for a regimented society, said West Texas State University's vice-president for planning and development. "They're training little Russians just like we train little Americans," he added.

Soviet schools he found, are regimented and super-orderly. Almost 100 per cent of the children attend kindergarten and a high proportion of youngsters are enrolled in day nurseries, some as early as their sixth month.

Dr. Laycock toured with about 60 educators under the auspices of the Comparative Education Society. He was the only Texan in the group.

He visited public school and higher education facilities in Leningrad, Moscow, Tallin in Estonia, Sofia in Bulgaria, and Paris.

The objective of the educators was to compare programs and find out what's really happening in education in Russia and Europe. But 14 or 15 days in Russia don't make you any kind of an expert."

In follow-up seminars at night, the travelers put questions to educators and government personnel.

"We were only able to penetrate by cross-questioning," declared Dr. Laycock, "and we saw only what they wanted us to see."

The Russians train people for specific jobs, in accordance with the results of testing programs and the needs of the country's Five and Ten-Year Plans.

Although youngsters become part of the Young Pioneers at 7 or 8 and receive their political indoctrination through the organization, only five per cent of Russia's citizens are members of the Communist Party. Only those who move up educationally and show ability are allowed to join, said the university executive.

Even taking the political system into account, he found the motivation of the students the thing that impressed him most, Dr. Laycock said.

He was surprised to find that Russia is spending 9 billion rubles (about $10.8 billion) on the restoration of buildings from the Czarist era. The palaces and cathedrals are being turned into museums and also demonstrate the width of the gap between the life of the aristocrats and the life of the common people before 1917.

An amazing amount of money is also going into cultural activities—music, ballet, drama. The visitors attended the Bolshoi Ballet in Moscow to see "The Hunchback Horse," and found that Leonid Breshnev and Aleksei Kosygin, accompanied by the president of West Pakistan were also in the audience.

The group also attended an operatic version of "War and Peace" which Dr. Laycock found "long and full of propaganda."

The work ethic is "really stressed," he reported, and there is "no involuntary unemployment," though he saw older people manning brooms and dustpans in the streets, contributing to the "relative cleanliness" of the nation.

"I didn't see anyone ill-clothed," he added, concluding that the country has concentrated on essentials. Now, however, there is more stress on the availability of consumer goods, which, he said, some feel may lead to a breakdown in the Soviet system.

The country's diversity—15 states speaking 59 languages—may also contribute to difficulties for the system, he feels.

College students in Russia don't really have a picture of our country, he said, and they also feel that we don't know much about theirs. They asked questions like "Is crime in New York as bad as we hear?" and "Why are you treating Angela Davis so badly?"

Dr. Laycock's group finally hit upon an answer to the Angela Davis question. They told the students Miss Davis is a counter-revolutionary—a very bad thing to be in Russia, said Dr. Laycock.

Dr. Laycock found that Bulgaria, although a Russian satellite, is run by Bulgarian Communists—not Russians. The Soviet philosophy prevails, but some private ownership exists. The educators were told that as owners of private homes die, however, the houses are torn down, so that private ownership is disappearing.

In Paris, the European system of the education of the stronger student is slowly giving way to the education of the masses—the American system.

Leader Tours Panhandle Seeking Funds For Center

Dr. Louis Calvin Browning, founder of the Youth Crime Prevention League, was in Canyon Thursday during a fund-raising tour of the Panhandle.

The league, which is chiefly concerned with encouraging black young people to stay in school, was formed at Temple in 1958, Dr. Browning said.

He is now seeking funds to build a center for the league in Dallas on a 1½ acre site which was dedicated Feb. 12 in Dallas. The $20,000 site has been paid for, said Dr. Browning, and the League has raised $10,000 of the $100,000 needed for a building. "We are trying to pay as we go," he said.

He and six other league workers, all black, visit college campuses and public schools to urge youngsters of their own race and others to stay in school. "We are 10 years ahead of Nixon, Reagan, and Wallace and have been working in schools across Texas for that long," said Dr. Browning, saying that he and the others, all ministers supported by their churches, hope to coordinate religious denominations among the blacks to discourage uprisings and takeovers by agencies like the Black Panthers.

"Un-American activities are hard at work to detour our young people from the right road. We're sure all freedom loving Americans will support this cause. True-blooded Americans are the only ones I have to appeal to for help. I mourn those who are supporting the far left that try to destroy and tear down."

Dr. Browning said integration takes education on both sides—black and white. "It's just too bad we didn't have a period of education prior to integration....We've done mighty well and moved along with very few incidents. Texas is at the top of the list as far as good race relations and violence are concerned."

The need, said Dr. Browning, is to keep the cities strong. If cities are not kept strong and the peace officers are not able to keep order "the little cities will throw up their hands."

Contributors may address the league at 944 E. Ledbetter, Dallas, 75216.

Ventriloquist Due In Canyon

Victor Etienne, ventriloquist from Saint Paul, Minn., will be guest of the First Assembly of God Church congregation here April 30 through May 5, announced the Rev. A.J. Pettit, minister.

Etienne, said Rev. Pettit, drew a huge crowd of young people to the church when he appeared a few years ago. He predicted another large audience this year.

"The gospel ventriloquist since the age of eleven, has traveled extensively over the U.S., conducting camp meetings, and Youth Crusades in some of the largest churches. He has been approached by the entertainment field to sell his talents to the world, but has chosen to use it in the gospel ministry. Though entertaining, his work has a preaching-teaching appeal. His ministry is in great demand, and we are happy to have his talents for the local people."

Admission to each session will be free. "Everyone is welcome," said Rev. Pettit.

School A's Pay Off For News Boy

Being a straight-A student pays off.

Brent Alan May, 12, will vouch for that.

He's a delivery boy for the Canyon News who tries "to hit the porch everytime."

Wednesday, he received a bonus—for both his good work for the newspaper and for the A grades he received in his 7th-grade classroom work at Canyon Junior High School.

That bonus was in the form of a $5 bill, given him by Publisher Troy Martin, as an incentive.

His route includes 1st, 2nd and 3rd Avenues. He delivers to some 70 customers.

As for the straight A record, he said he plans to continue it, in hopes of getting more of those crisp $5 bills.

Injuries Slow Tracksters

Bob Kitchens hopes he will be able to do at least as much healing as coaching this week.

The Buffalo track team of coach Kitchens has been slowed for the past several weeks by injuries and he hopes the squad will be at near full strength Saturday when West Texas hosts three other teams for the WTSU Invitational.

Other teams entered are Texas Tech, University of Texas at Arlington and New Mexico State.

Among those injured have been Tracy Dickson, Jesse Lethridge and Steve Cone. None of the three leg injuries suffered by the trio showed enough improvement for Kitchens to take them to the Texas Relays two weeks ago and to the Wichita State Relays last weekend.

All of the injured athletes run on the Buffalo Relay team. Dickson and Lethridge are sprint relay team members of the mile relay.

Snow, who missed the Texas Relays with a turned ankle, made the Wichita State trip, but didn't vault as the runway was too slick from rain for the event and it was cancelled. He has a best of 15.0 this year.

Dickson has run the 100 in 9.6 and has a 48.0 best in the open quarter. Cone has run 49.0 in the 440. Lethridge has run 49.2 on the mile relay and has a 9.7 in the 100.

The Buffaloes and Texas Tech are considered to be the stronger of the four teams entered this week.

Field events get underway at the Buffalo track at 1 p.m.

3 Girls To Attend Basketball Camp

Nicki Knowles, Stacy McAlpin, and Suzie Wright of Canyon Junior High School have been accepted at the Ranger Junior College basketball camp to be held June 4-10.

Watch Out For Skunks; Rabies Is The Danger

"Anytime a skunk has enough nerve to jump on a dog, he should be considered as being a carrier of rabies," declared Canyon Veterinarian Dr. J. L. Markham, "because skunks and dogs are natural enemies and because skunks don't attack dogs unless they have rabies."

Referring to an incident of about a year ago, the vet sought to warn residents about the dread disease, which can infect most small pets in the city.

A Rabies clinic is scheduled at Dr. Markham's clinic May 5 and 6, he pointed out, and all pets in the city must be innoculated against the sickness.

"We will be innoculating animals between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. both days. Checks should be made out in advance, and all owners should have dogs on leashes and cats in boxes."

The charge for innoculation this year is to be reduced, he emphasized, with the charge scheduled to be $3.00 instead of $4.00 as in the past.

Dr. Markham warned residents to watch out for skunks as carriers of rabies, and gave a case in point:

"Some people about a year ago heard a commotion in their yard, and they turned on the light and found a skunk had bitten their dog. The skunk wouldn't turn loose. We had to keep that dog, an old English bulldog named Clancy. We immediately vaccinated the dog for rabies, and the dog lived out his six-month's quarantine period and turned out all right and went home.

"We treated the old dog like he was ours. I think Clancy's still around, as I used him for stud purposes last fall."

Of the upcoming rabies clinic, Dr. Markham added: "It will be much better for residents if they have their money ready, because sometimes it gets exciting when you get two or three cats and large dogs together (for vaccination).

"About three years ago a lady was severely bitten in the hand by a cat because a dog was barking and disturbing that cat...so we intend to have lots of help; and if the public will cooperate we can guarantee innoculations won't take long."

He said if everytinng goes as smoothly as he hopes, residents can get their pets processed in "just a few minutes."

But between now and the clinic dates, he again emphasized that residents should "watch out" for skunks—particularly if they attack city pets.

Church Women Will Hold Fellowship

Canyon Church Women will celebrate May Fellowship Day on May 5, with a program entitled "Behold the Woman" slated at the Episcopal Student Center, 2516 4th Ave.

Activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the center, with the program to be led by women from St. Ann's Catholic Church.

A nursery operation will be provided during the event. The nursery will be at First United Methodist Church.

WT Co-Ed Gets Rotary Scholarship

Rotary International has awarded a scholarship to 19-year-old West Texas State University sophomore Jo Sondra Beaver.

The vivacious young co-ed will serve in an ambassadorial capacity for one year abroad—either in Switzerland or France. She said Rotary officials have not yet informed her of details of her tenure overseas.

The award is a $5,000 scholarship designed to give her a chance to study at a university in Europe.

She will undertake her college studies for the 1973-74 school year.

"I'm elated," she said, "words just can't explain it. I went abroad one summer, and I've always wanted to go back." She said she will be assigned to a Rotary family while in Europe, and she plans to study the French language.

She said, too, she can't wait to see Paris and Zurich.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Beaver of Clovis, N.M., she is majoring in secondary education this year at West Texas State University. She plans to teach in high school after she completes her education.

She said she was chosen from 7 candidates who applied for the Rotary scholarship, available here through the Canyon Club.

Miss Beaver is a member of Chi Omega Sorority at WT, and the Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society.

First Graders To Present "Peter Rabbit"

BY PAULINE HEFLEY

MONDAY NIGHT next (May 1) is an absolute must for you to attend the Gene Howe P.T.A. The first graders will present the program entitled "Peter Rabbit". And, if you can't catch that performance be sure to go by the li'l white school house on the hill and see the production at 2 p.m. on that afternoon when it will be given for the student body of Gene Howe. Understand letters have gone out to the preschoolers asking them to attend also. Perhaps will see you when the meeting is called to order at 7:30 p.m....Okay?

AND, IT IS THAT special time of the year again...time to bring the wee ones that will start to school next year up to look the place over. Official pre-schooler day is May 4, Thursday at 1:45. Letters have gone out to the community inviting the kiddos up to Gene Howe as part of the program the nurse will speak, along with Mr. Lawless and a couple of other performers (like maybe Jerry Jacobs, superintendent of the Canyon Schools, and like maybe Mrs. Troyce Mulherin, president of the Gene Howe P.T.A....Don't know about the performers, just threw them in) and the students will be taken to the first grade rooms to visit. Should be a fun afternoon for your darling, and what a milestone in their lives...starting in the first grade.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Daren Finke

HERE'S A CAUSE you can support, the Central Baptist Church will be sponsoring an "all day car wash" this Saturday to raise funds for summer camp. It is going to be handled by the young people (teenagers) of the church community and supervised by the youth director and the pastor of the congregation. It all takes place at that friendly Ted Walker's Standard Station (5701 Canyon Drive) which is at the intersection of Western and the Canyon Freeway. Gonna take place this Saturday, all day long and you can get your motorcar spic and span for only $3.00 and write the whole thing off as a gift. That's a welcome change, Eh what?

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY to me Daddy and Mommie, Leo and Margaret Elliott, who receive the latest Canyon News down in Quanah.

CONGRATULATIONS to those students in the Symphonic Band who recently attended the U.I.L. contest, and received two ratings of "one" each, (on sight-reading and concert respectively) which is super. Those we know of that contributed from the Gene Howe area are Bryan Young, Larry Young, Cindy Johnson, Kurt Johnson, De Ann Holmes, Cathy Cantrell, Ken Cantrell, Brian Dodson, and Arthur Spear. We're sure proud of y'all. And speaking of the band, we take this means to wish Mr. Gary Laramore the best of luck in his short leave of absence to the service. Understand he will be back in the fall and we shall look forward to his return, and God's speed to you, Mr. Laramore.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY to Erwin and Bobbie Davlin.

CONGRATULATIONS to the seventh and ninth grade track team (girls) who won their district track meet held recently in Panhandle. The eighth grade came in second, which is also noteworthy. Those we know of that were involved from our area were Jean Cannon, Teresa Tucker, Cindy Baldridge, Alexis Hefley, Edythe McCurry, Tonya Riley, Becky Wallace, Lucynda Curlee, Brenda Tyler, Angela Mayfield, and Sheila Thomason. Understand Sheila will be going to the regional track meet in Abilene in sprint relays and we wish her lots of luck. Also a big "thank you" to our spiffy coach Willy McAlpin, Diana Lewis, and Bob Schneider who continue to give of their time and talents.

UNDERSTAND ONE OF our Gene Howe teachers, Sandra Hicks, sat for her G.R.E. exam (that's graduate something or other, wrote it down and of all things, I can't read my writin'). Anyway lot's of luck to her.

HOWDY TO MR. GARY NALL on the faculty at West Texas for no reason at all...just to say Howdy.

SAY, THAT MRS. GEORGE (Barbara) Kirk had an interesting trip down to Waco to see you know who recently. Seems as though coming back on the plane to Amarillo she sat between Ralph Yarborough (running for U.S. Senator) and his aide. Understand it was a most interesting trip home and Barbara deplaned amid all the popping flash bulbs. I should think she deserves nothing less than that anyway.

HAVE SOMETHING to report to you on Charles Purcell's recent trip next week. In the meantime, y'all phone me your latest happenings...352-2089 or 376-9853.

Vandals Strike At Canyon Apartments

Police early this week were investigating an incident of vandalism reported by Arch Hunsley, owner of the Cambridge House Apartments.

Officers said somebody splashed paint on a wall on the north side of an apartment unit.

Disaster Plans Are Completed

Disaster is like a snake, waiting to strike without warning, Canyon city authorities said this week as they prepared for the imminent tornado season.

Two disaster plans have been drawn up under supervision of City Manager George Loudder, Police Chief Al Stewart, and Fire Chief Jack Jennings and Deputy Chief Joe Rice.

One plan is the City Weather Warning and Observation Plan; the other, a separate plan, is the Emergency Operation Plan, known as: "Baker One."

The CWWOB, officials pointed out, has the mission "to provide a plan to observe potentially dangerous weather and to provide a plan to warn the citizens of Canyon of impending danger."

This plan includes tornado watch activity in which local officers working from disaster headquarters (the Emergency Operations Center) at the Fire Station keep in constant touch with the National Weather Service, Kansas City.

When a tornado warning is issued for the Canyon area, it usually will mean the warning is based on actual tornado sightings in the affected area.

This year the NWS will classify tornadoes, as such: "mini, a tornado with length of 10 to 60 yards at the base; midi, a tornado with length of 60 yards to one-fourth of a mile wide; and maxi, a swirling storm more than one-fourth of a mile wide.

Said Canyon officials:

"Upon receipt of information that our area has been placed under a tornado watch the following procedures will be taken:

—"City manager, fire chief, police chief and all city department heads will be made aware that the watch has been posted.

—"Police, fire and other department heads should notify their personnel that they may be needed for weather-watch operations.

—"At any time a threatening or dangerous looking storm cloud is approaching the Canyon area the Police or Fire chiefs may put the weather watch plan into operation.

Stewart and Rice pointed out that the disaster plan, with its counterpart plan, is "a community effort." That effort, they stressed, is designed to protect every Canyon citizen by giving him as much warning as is "humanly" possible.

The secondary plan is "Baker One." This plan is to be put into play to handle an actual disaster after it has occurred. City officials have a detailed operational plan to cope with whatever should arise.

"All departments are working together as a team," Stewart observed, adding that disaster planners worry most about "panic." But they're prepared to handle that, too.

Conservation Week Is Set

The week of May 7-14 has been proclaimed as Soil Stewardship Week in Texas, and Canyon soil conservationists plan special activities.

Don Dolle, local conservationist, said posters designed to draw attention to the social importance of soil conservation will be placed in store windows around the city.

Dolle said in connection with the week-long observance Bob Henry, Randall County farmer, will be honored as "Outstanding Conservation Farmer" for the year.

Henry will receive the award—a plaque—during the annual Farmer Apreciation Banquet, scheduled by the Lions Club for May 10.

Texas Gov. Preston Smith, in proclaiming the week's observance, said: "The protection of our environment is the concern of every citizen of this state. Without adequate soil and water conservation our environment would be imperiled and the foundation of our economy endangered.

"The Soil and Water Conservation Districts are sponsoring Soil Stewardship Week in an effort to impress upon all Texans the importance of caring for God's earth."

NEW P-A-G 511 sorghum proves you can get high yields with short water

Because of the water shortage, many High Plains farmers planted drought-resistant P-A-G 511 in 1971. Many had higher yields than full season varieties planted under the same or better conditions. In the 1971 High Plains Research Foundation tests at Halfway, Texas, P-A-G 511 ranked number 2 of 40 Hybrids tested in Single Forty-Inch Spaced rows with a yield of 7,740 lbs. per acre.

PROVED ON FARMS IN 1971

Last year many farmers found P-A-G 511 to be more drought resistant and higher yielding than other medium-medium late and some full season varieties. Carl Kleuskens of Hereford won 2nd place in the 1971 P-A-G Yield Contest with New 511 and P-A-G 516 with an average yield of 8,455.9 lbs. per acre on a 100+ acre field.

Farmers Union Joins Bureau In Protest

The Randall County Farmers Union has joined the Randall County Farm Bureau in protesting the Cattle Scabies Eradication Program.

Alfred Buecker of the Farmer's Union, said Tuesday, the organization had talked with a representative of U.S. Representative Graham Purcell who "was very interested" and currently working on the problem.

He said the Farmer's Union plans a meeting next week to discuss some action.

Bob McCasland and Cristler Crain of the Farm Bureau said Monday they were discussing the matter with representatives of U. S. Representative Bob Price.

McCasland said the letter expressing the Farm Bureau protest was also sent to state representatives from this area and plans were to discuss the problem with Gov. Preston Smith.

Crain said the Randall County organization had received inquiries about the protest from the Gray County Farm Bureau.

The board of directors of the Farm Bureau expressed their concern with the eradication program in a letter mailed last week. The protest followed an announcement of stricter dipping requirements for cattle. The new requirements are to become effective June 1.

The letter states, "We understand that cattle scabies is a serious threat to the cattle industry; but, we also know that it is not injurious to the life of the cattle or to man as is anthrax or other such diseases.

"We feel a more practical approach to the problem should be taken. The measures being forced upon us are too harsh and more thought should be given to their consequences," the letter continues.

Randall County has had only minor occurrences of scabies and it has apparently been controlled through measures already taken, the letter states.

"Indiscriminate, mandatory dipping of all cattle prior to shipping would produce several consequences that we feel are more serious than the problem itself," according to Farm Bureau members.

The letter lists added expense to the consumer, added expense to the tax payer, unnecessary pollution of the environment, the health and well-being of the cattle, profiteering by individuals at the expense to the cattleman, and increased cost to the producer.

"The cure seems to be fast becoming worse than the problem," the letter stresses. The machinery for its operation is already set up and working. Our only recourse is to write you and hope that you can afford us some relief before the problem becomes more serious," the letter declares.

The Farm Bureau said when the program began in the fall, the members felt it was to be of a temporary nature but are now told the program is to be in effect for an undetermined time beginning June 1.

McCasland said the organization is calling the problem to the attention of the congressmen "because we feel they should know about it." He said he hoped other organizations would join the Farm Bureau.

"We hope they will study the program and give it more thought," he added. "There are alot of people who don't realize what is coming," he said.

D.A. Reports

The legislative committee of the Texas District and County Attorney's Association has recommended a change in the penalty for first possession of marijuana.

George Dowlen, Randall County District Attorney and member of the committee, returned Monday from a meeting in San Antonio.

Dowlen said the committee has recommended the penalty for first possession be set at two to ten years in the penitentiary but following a conviction and the hearing of further evidence, the judge could reduce the conviction to a misdeamenor.

If the conviction is reduced, the maximum penalty would be a $2000 fine and one year in jail. The current penalty for possession of marijuana is two years to life in prison, Dowlen said.

"In the event of a first offender with a small amount of marijuana, the judge would probably want to make the conviction a misdeamenor rather than a felony," Dowlen stated.

"However, if there is evidence of trafficking in drugs or a large quantity involved, the judge could use the felony offense," Dowlen added.

This statute recommended by the committee seems to be more in line with what the people want in regard to marijuana, Dowlen said. He said the committee heard testimony from several persons on the subject before the statute was written.

The full recommendation of the legislative committee will be presented to the District and County Attorney's Association convention in May, Dowlen stated.

"The recommendations are a vast improvement over what was submitted by the State Bar Association from the point of view of law enforcement, the public and in most cases the defendent," Dowlen declared.

Dowlen said the committee raised the possible punishment on most offenses from what was proposed by the Bar Association and completely reworked the sec-

Freedom Restricted -- Vaughn

BY KAY FOSTER

Dr. Robert Vaughn, one-time Napoleon Solo' from the Man from U.N.C.L.E. series, said that we have many individual freedoms, and they are expressed in many ways, but since we are victims of a larger power structure...the state, "we aren't as free as we really think we are."

Dr. Vaughn, who received his doctorate in Philosophy in mass communication in 1970, spoke to approximately 200 people Monday night in the Ballroom of the WT Activities Center. The Student's Activities Council sponsored his lecture which centered around "Freedom of Speech."

"We have been and are controlled by a system that does what it will with its people," he said.

He added that what it boils down to is that we have all the freedom we want as long as we exercise that freedom. When our freedom is abused we have the right to speak out against the abuser.

In exercising our freedoms, polls show the majority of Americans favor a pullout in Viet Nam. "The government," Vaughn said, "is apparently no longer concerned with what the people want but with perpetuating its own interests."

He added that the government does not acknowledge the rights of the First Amendment, instead the administration has "labeled opponents by the same terms used to define treason."

Government snooping is causing many of our freedoms, particularly privacy, to become things of the past. The information the government collects on individuals is full of distortions and inaccuracies and too often available to any one who desires the information.

" 'Let it all hand out' must be a street slogan the government is proud of by the way it keeps all these files and by the way it makes the information available", Dr. Vaughn added.

Although he has been working and living in Europe most of the past few years, he has kept up with politics in the U.S. He said that he supports Sen. George McGovern for president, but that he himself has no political aspirations and that the democratic way is best.

"I am an actor by profession—and choice, and I consider it a choice profession," he said.

Concerning the war in Viet Nam he predicted that within 90 days of the withdrawal of U.S. from South Viet Nam the communists would take over.

If the government of South Viet Nam cannot stand on its own after 13 years of U.S. support, it should be allowed to fall, he added.

Dr. Vaughn also talked about his book, "Only Victims," which was published in March. This book is his doctoral dissertation which he edited to a readable length.

In this book he discusses the history of the House Committee on Un-American Activities which is now the House Internal

Wind Hits Happy Businesses-Homes

Gale-like winds swept Happy early Tuesday night doing extensive damage both in the business and residential areas.

Bill Andrews, city manager, said trees were uprooted and plate glass windows smashed while heavy damage was done to porches in the residential portion of the town.

He said blowing dust accompanied winds up to 70 miles an hour with gusts much higher.

Plate glass windows were smashed at Whitlow-Lee Lumber Company and Wallace Motor Company in the downtown area.

Walls and windows were damaged in a house belonging to Tom Moudy, Sr., in the vicinity of the football field. A half-dozen trees were felled with one damaging a parked car.

The Happy civil defense unit kept an eye on the cloud which came with the wind but no tornado alert was issued. Andrews said there were several whirlwinds as the wind changed directions a number of times but there was no apparent danger of a tornado.

Very little moisture came with the storm.

About .93 inches of rain was recorded in the southeast end of Palo Duro Park and some tree damage resulted from hail, according to park officials. One-half inch of rain was recorded at the park office with pea-sized hail.

Umbarger received a shower and some hail but no damage was reported and the Palisades had a small shower with no reports of hail.

COVERING FUMBLES

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Strife-torn, poverty-stricken Eagle Pass School District has been injected into the Texas gubernatorial race.

As far as state-wide politics were concerned, Dolph Briscoe was clean. He wasn't in Austin when the Sharpstown scandal broke.

But Briscoe was interested in some land in Maverick County and his name had been attached to a suit brought against Eagle Pass School District.

There's bitterness in Eagle Pass. Urban people and farmers sending their kids to Eagle Pass School felt the non-resident ranchers weren't carrying their share of the tax load.

The school called in an appraiser back in 1968 and pegged the range land at about $34 an acre. The ranchers thought this was too high for land so poor that 20 acres was needed to support a cow.

The ranchers seem to have been dissatisfied with the appraiser, Jim McMorries, whose appraisals raised a ruckus in our own community a few years back.

The ranchers went to court to get an injunction. They lost all the way up to the Supreme Court of Texas. The case dragged on for three years and in the meantime the school was heavily in debt to an Eagle Pass bank.

The school owed the bank about $300,000.

According to school officials, the bank notified the school as the term drew to a close in 1970 that it could advance only $100,000 more.

The ranchers had withheld their taxes since filing of the suit and were reported by school officials to have owed the school $400,000 by that time.

They continued to hold out announcing plans to try the case on its merits.

Here different stories emerge as to how the case was settled.

David Hume, attorney who handled the case successfully for the school, said Briscoe was the hero at that point talking disgruntled ranchers into paying up their taxes.

Frank Irwin, controversial University of Texas regent and Ben Barnes supporter, went to Maverick County and apparently developed the story released by H.M. Baggarly, Tulia editor, hours after the Barnes campaign train puffed through Tulia.

This version made a villain out of Briscoe. It painted him as a land baron devoid of social responsibility who withheld school taxes in order to force the Eagle Pass School District to the wall.

School officials say Irwin spent a great deal of time in Eagle Pass probing school records.

Barnes people must have thought it pretty crucial for a man as important as Frank Irwin to spend so much time on it.

Also, there is something downright ludicrous about a situation that makes liberal-baiting Frank Irwin a bedfellow of Ralph Yarborough—loving H.M. Baggarly.

As I said before, stories differ on the now much-publicized tax case.

According to school officials, the ranchers made a deal to pay their taxes for the three years involved but penalty and interest only for the first two years.

Also as a part of the bargain, the district hired a Houston appraising firm which finally set the value of the land at about $40 an acre—a figure accepted by the land holders.

The Maverick County fight is one that has been going on between urban and rural people over the entire state for the past two decades at least.

Everyone who has read this newspaper knows that it has been going on here in Randall County at least since 1960.

City people think farmers and ranchers should pay taxes on what land would bring on the open market. The farmers and ranchers think it should be taxed according to the income it will produce.

There is even talk of legislation that would make production a criteria in setting taxes on agricultural and ranching lands across the state.

This appears to be the battle that's going on at Eagle Pass and it seems like dirty pool to single out one man and accuse him when there are thousands involved in the same type of controversy all over Texas.

From what I can gather by talking to Eagle Pass folks on the telephone, it is a community divided against itself. Even on the settling of the taxes so the school could open, the school board was divided.

Eagle Pass has had six school superintendents in the past seven years and I understand that the current superintendent has submitted his resignation.

John Minney, a small land holder who served on the equalization board, speaks with open bitterness about the land barons who control so much of the school district's real estate.

A school official who would not be quoted was equally bitter blaming much of the school district's troubles on the large land owners. He was certain that Barnes would carry Maverick County.

Hume, who squared off against the ranchers in court, is just as certain that the county will go for Briscoe May 6.

As a columnist, this is my candid observation.

Ben Barnes looks upon Dolph Briscoe as his arch rival for the governor's mansion. Barnes was divorced and remarried not too long ago. This alone wouldn't hurt him much but it does figure in some.

The thing that makes Candidate Barnes toss and turn in his sleep is the fact that —innocent or not and I do not say he is not innocent— he was there in a position of power and authority while the path was being beaten to Sharpstown.

I do say that after serving almost a decade as speaker of the Texas House and lieutenant governor, if he did not know something was amiss in events that finally led to the conviction of Speaker Gus Mutscher then he's the dumbest lieutenant governor who ever pounded a gavel in the Texas Senate.

This being the case and no frontal assault on Briscoe being possible, Frank Irwin went to Eagle Pass and the story somehow was funneled to H.M. Baggarly, the "newsman" least likely in this state to check it before committing it to print.

This diversionary tactic backfired just like Ben's proposed trip to parley with the North Vietnamese backfired when The Canyon News started digging into the other side.

I don't see how I could check the story further. I have talked to both sides. From what I can discern by telephone, I found a community so torn and angry that it hasn't been very successful in running any phase of its school system for the past several years.

I don't blame the townspeople and I don't blame the ranchers. I can't find fault with either side for going to court. Every man is entitled to his day in court if he has a grievance—that's the American way.

I do find something to admire in both the school authorities and the ranchers. Both swallowed their pride and found a way to settle when it became apparent that the school children of Eagle Pass were in jeopardy.

Smith Gets High Honor

Dr. Emmitt D. Smith, dean of the College of Education at West Texas State University, is the first recipient of the newly inaugurated Ben E. Coody Distinguished Service Award to teacher education.

The award was presented by the Texas Association of Teacher Educators at its convention in Galveston Saturday.

Dr. Coody, active in student teacher work as a faculty member at North Texas State University, was killed in a traffic accident about 18 months ago. He was a former president of the TATE.

Dr. Jarrell Gray of East Texas State University, outgoing president of the TATE, said the award was established "to recognize an individual who made significant contributions in the field of teacher education in Texas."

Smith became dean of the College of Education last fall after serving as vice president for program development and research at WTSU.

He is statewide coordinator of the new Texas Teacher Center Project, a program designed to acquaint professors of education with new teaching methods.

He joined the West Texas State faculty in 1949 as associate professor of education and director of student teaching.

THE BREAKFAST egg can serve several purposes, Mrs. M. E. Nelson of Claude relates.

When the egg is "emptied" for use, run your finger around inside the shell and scrape out the egg white that is clinging there, rub this on your face-across the laugh lines around your eyes, even the droop lines around your mouth, under your chin if lines tend to sag there.

This will give you an instant facial! Soon the lines will begin to tighten and your eyes will open wider, your mouth will have an uplift and yet it will not show; just be like a light dusting of powder when it dries.

Cassie usually scrambles the egg and puts it into the oven at the same time she does the toast "there's no watching or stirring and you have a well done or soft omelet....owing to your preference. This saves nerves and gives you time for other chores.

When breakfast comes out of the oven; turn the heat off then place the egg shells in there, to be dried by the residue heat. Later they are crushed by rolling them in a bread wrapper with a rolling pin then fed to the birds. "Robins are especially fond of the shells."

If you are not feeding birds use the crushed egg shells in the soil. They will give the earth phosporus and are good for aeration.

"Dig them into flower beds or scatter them where they will be gradually dug into the soil," she notes.

Canyon Youth Is Critical

A 16-year-old Canyon youth was seriously injured about 10:30 a.m. Sunday when a steer charged the horse he was riding while cutting cattle at Randall County Feed Yard.

Darrell Winterfield, a feedlot employe who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Winterfield of Route 2, Canyon, received severe head injuries when his horse flipped on top of him, said Mrs. Winterfield and feedlot witnesses.

The youth remained in critical condition in the intensive-care ward of Amarillo's Northwest Texas Hospital, and nurses said outlook for his recovery was "uncertain," pending further treatment.

Mrs. Winterfield reported: "They were cutting cattle and when the steer charged, apparently, he was thrown over the horse's head. He apparently was able to push himself out of his saddle."

She and spokesmen for Randall County Feed Yard said the horse flipped head-first onto young Winterfield. "The horse turned a somersault right down on him," the mother added.

Mrs. Winterfield said her son has seemed accident-prone, as about a year ago, he was seriously burned in a flash fire in a vacation trailer.

A LaGrone ambulance picked up the injured youth at approximately 10:45 a.m. Sunday, spokesmen for the funeral home said.

Young Winterfield is not allowed visitors at the hospital, Mrs. Winterfield reported. However, she added, that will change if his condition improves.

Mrs. Winterfield reported later that after lying unconscious in the hospital's ITC unit since the mishap her son had regained consciousness and said he wanted to go home.

She said that development indicated improvement in the youth's condition and heartened family members.

Lester Stalter Loses Fingers To Saw

Lester Stalter, 46-year-old Canyon man, was admitted to High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo about 8 a.m. Wednesday for treatment of injuries he received about 7:20 a.m. while he worked with a skill saw at his greenhouse located north of the city.

Hospital attendants said Stalter lost two fingers of his left hand by amputation, with a third finger partially amputated.

He was expected to be hospitalized for at least one day, hospital attendants said.

Stalter, contacted in his room following the mishap, said he accidentally stuck his hand in a skill saw while cutting strips of geranium plants at the greenhouse.

He said he dashed to the trailer home of a friend, Danny Riemer, who rushed the victim to the Amarillo hospital. Two unidentified West Texas State security officers happened nearby, and gave escort a part of the distance from the expressway to the hospital.

"They were wonderful," he said of the unexpected help given him during the emergency.

McCasland said the cattle have been inspected many times and the entire herd is inspected every time any part of the herd is moved.

The new rules for cattle dipping provide for dipping of all cattle in movement except those animals that:

Are moving directly to slaughter, are moving to slaughter through a livestock market, are moving to a livestock market for sale and dipping prior to release,

Are released from a livestock market to a dip point with an official permit, are moving to an official dipping point, have been dipped within the past seven days, are from a non-control area moving through the control area with no stopovers,

Are being moved by the same owner from one place to another within the quarantined area, have been dipped within seven days from scabies-infested states with permit or with a permit to be dipped upon arrival, or are from a non-control area being moved into the control area for grazing.

Dr. Smith said the teacher education program will conduct a self-study for accreditation by the National Council in 1972-73 and the visitation will occur in the fall of 1973.

"It is advisable that the dean who is in the office during visitation should have the dean a year before the visitation," Dr. Smith stated. "For continuity, it seemed advisable to make the change now instead of next year," Dr. Smith added.

Linda Pinkerton obviously is proud of her artistic creations—doll cakes and cup cakes. Linda is one of the city's newest business-women. She works hard daily baking her cakes at her home at 904 4th Ave.

City Woman Bakes Cakes In New Shop

Linda Pinkerton is not only a doll-maker, but also a cook.

She combines her two talents in order to start a new business in Canyon.

Her new cake shop is located at her home, 904 4th Ave.—and already orders are pouring in for her doll cakes, wedding cakes, and cupcakes.

Assisting her in the new business is Wanda Dieterich, Mrs. Pinkerton's student. "She's doing real well learning how to do what I do," said Linda.

The doll-cakes and wedding cakes are her specialty items. Particularly, she enjoys doing the wedding cakes, she added.

Linda has lived in Canyon for about five months. Her husband, Leland, is employed with Southwestern Bell Telephone company.

Her work, she said, "looks good, but I want it to taste good—that's the main thing."

She concluded by saying: "I started this as a hobby for my family, but I got so involved that I found it was 'my thing'."

Young Resigns Church Position

Ray Young, minister of education for First Baptist Church, has resigned his position to begin study in the field of hospital administration.

He will begin work at Baptist Memorial Hospital in Oklahoma City on May 1.

Man Buys Suit For WT Event

Dennis Blair, 83, of Calgary, Canada, hasn't bought a new suit since the early 1920's.

But he recently told his son-in-law, Edward R. (Ted) Rhodes of Canyon that he intends to buy a new one as a special gesture when he comes to attend graduation ceremonies at West Texas State University in May.

Blair intends to travel down to Texas with other family members to watch young Rhodes get his bachelor's degree.

The WT senior said the elderly man told him about purchase of the suit during a recent telephone conversation.

Rhodes said the upcoming graduation festivities will climax his college stay in Canyon; that he and his family will return to Calgary immediately afterward.

Rhodes said he and wife, Donna, sold their home and furniture back in 1968 in Calgary in order to come to West Texas to get a college degree.

Now they plan to go "home," although they'll miss Canyon.

Rhodes said the family will leave this "warm climate" for a much cooler one. He said winters here are like summer, compared to those in Canada.

He has taken a job as a petroleum landman with Dome Petroleum Co. of Canada.

The couple said they had enjoyed the stay in Canyon during college days, and that: "We'll miss the warm weather in the wintertime, and the people, too."

The mile relay team, consisting of Miss Davis, Miss Williams, Miss Nelson and Miss Lewis ripped off a 4:19.2 and were second in that event.

Miss Williams heaved the discus 90-11¼ to a third place finish, while Miss Tomason jumped 32-4 in the triple jump to finish fourth. Neither of the girls qualified for regional in those events.

Carnival A Success

BY SUSAN DOLLE

THE SPRINGTIME Carnival held by the Catholic Youth Organization of St. Mary's Church last Sunday was a success. A middle-sized crowd enjoyed the booths and games manned by the teen-agers. The hall was decorated with streamers and refreshments were served by the parish woman's group. Proceeds from the afternoon affair will be donated to the children's home in Panhandle.

WINNERS OF the carnival's prizes were Mrs. Willie Wieck who won a chain lamp, six-year-old Jeanette Crotegut who won the door prize, and Joan Frische, winner of the transistor radio awarded for the closest bean guess. The youth organization is grateful to all who helped make the event successful. A very hard worker for the day was Mrs. Joe Wieck who donated stuffed animals for the novelty booth. All animals not sold will be given to the children at the home.

TRAVELERS IN the month of April include Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Adams and Gerald Adams who returned recently from a two-week trip to the Pacific states. They enjoyed the sights in Las Vegas, Lake Tahoe, Sacramento and Spokane. Relatives visited include Betty Watson and family of Lancaster, Calif. Louise Reagan of Hunting Beach, Calif., Floyd Leard of Sacramento, and Kenneth Adams of Spokane, Wash.

THE ADAMS brothers, Darroll, Carroll, Dean and Gerald also traveled to Stratford, Okla. last week to visit their father who has been ill.

MR. AND MRS. Vincent Meyer, Sr. are in Kansas City for a ten-day stay to visit brothers and sisters in that area.

MR. AND MRS. Ben Buecker celebrated their thirty-seventh anniversary this week.

SOME GOOD citizens whose farming operations include land north of Umbarger are wondering why the bridges crossing Palo Duro Creek are still of the 1924 variety. The only way to get their wide equipment across the 17-foot bridges is to load them on a trailer or go the long way around by way of Dawn or Canyon. Maybe the commissioners court could look into the possibility of making the bridges as modern as the farm equipment.

THE PRESENT moon trek has been as progressive as ever. The live coverage was fantastically clear and precisely planned. The scientific achievements are more than this writer can comprehend but one thing is understandable as ever. Whenever the universe reveals one of its long-kept secrets, it shows the wisdom of its Designer. Everytime frail man looks diligently for an answer to one of his questions, it can be found; the answer has been lying in wait for eons, centuries before man thought of the question. To me, scientific achievement does not negate the possibility of God; it increases His probability.

Palisades Palaver

Men Repair Palisades Road

BY VICKI HOOKER

A BIG THANK you to all of our men who have helped on our roads for the last couple of weeks. It's really surprising what a little asphalt will do, isn't it? However, there is one thing that troubles me. Where are we going to practice our trick driving now that we no longer have those chug holes to dodge? Really, though, we do appreciate all the work you men have done, and we'd like to thank Gene Webb for the use of his truck which hauled the asphalt.

SOMEONE, I'M NOT certain who has donated another flatcar for our bridge on the north side. As soon as possible Johnny Conway will bring it down and put both cars in place for a nominal fee of $100.00. The tops of the cars will then be cemented and we'll soon be back in business.

THOSE BIG BOOMS you've been hearing lately are not sonic booms, nor are they the result of Lum Edward's dynamiting feats because Lum is on vacation! They are coming from the west side of the Canyon where a land development project is underway, in case you haven't noticed. Mr. Pete Hudson, who lives in the house next to the gate, in cooperation with W. C. Roberts Lumber Company, is working on making the housing development of Timberlake Crossing a reality. And it will probably be a very beautiful community because it is in a very lovely section of the canyon. Mr. Hudson says he plans to dam up the creek, but he didn't say how, where or when.

LOTS ARE NOT being sold in Timberlake Crossing yet but they probably will be very soon, and we in the Palisades can look forward to having many new neighbors.

THE HOME DEMONSTRATION Club met last week June Hooker's and we were pleased to have with us two old members, Judy Webb and Joyce McDonald. We also had two guests, Ann Johnson, daughter of Wanda Johnson, and Becky Guess, daughter-in-law of Reba Guess.

EVERYONE ENJOYED A delicious lunch, and afterwards we all gathered around the snack bar to watch Beverly Norman demonstrate how to make bread dough flowers. It wasn't long before we all had our hands in the sticky dough trying to make tiny roses, tulips, daisies, mushrooms, and other assorted items. Working with the dough to make those tiny flowers is a tedious process, and as Beverly said, "you don't really appreciate these until you've tried to make one yourself." Lorraine Inman had the right idea though. She made a giant rose about 10 times bigger than the rest of them, and it turned out beautifully!

WE ALL HAD a very good time and even learned something in the process! Including our guests there were 16 present.

THE MAY DAY Luncheon will take the place of our first May meeting. The luncheon will be Monday, May 1, at 11:30 a.m. in the First Baptist Church of Canyon. The price is $1.75 per plate, so don't forget to come. You'll have a chance to meet members of other clubs and find out what they are doing, and maybe get some ideas for our club.

TWO BOYS IN the Palisades made news on their motorcycles this past weekend. Ricky Jackson rode his new Honda at the drags Saturday night and won a first place trophy. It was his first time to race a cycle on the quarter mile.

RANDY CARTHEL RAN short track in Lubbock over the weekend and did very well. According to his grandmother, Irene Parker, it was the best racing he had ever done. He rode his 250 Assa in the professional races and won two second places! In the non-professionals he rode his 125 Penton and won first place.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THESE two boys.

MANY OF YOU may have noticed a "sold" sign in front of the Parkers' house. Well, they have found a buyer, and they should know for sure by the end of next week if they can close the deal. Irene and Jack are not sure what they are going to do, but they are considering buying a trailer and moving it closer to town. We certainly hate to lose them as neighbors, but as Irene said, "With all the relatives we have down here, I know we'll be back often."

PAUL McDONALD HAS been on vacation this week, but he hasn't been resting! Joyce has kept him busy on some home improvements. They had a patio poured this week, and that's probably just the beginning! If you two get through down there and can't find anything to do, come on up. I'll put you to work!

GARLAND AND MILDRED Turner had company again this week. This time it was Garland's brother, Paul, and his wife, Esther, from California They visited with Garland and Mildred Tuesday and Wednesday, and have also spent some time with Garland's other brother, Bennie, who lives in Amarillo, and Esther's sister, Mrs. Leroy Pitt of Canyon.

THAT'S ALL THE Palisades News for this week. Lake Tanglewood residents are doing well with their newstips, and I hope they are enjoying reading about their community.

IN LINE with the News subscription contest, I must agree with Vickie Hooker about the high winds and the fierce dogs. We are still battling the high winds and sweet-talking the not too friendly dogs. But all in all it is good to get out and visit with friends and make new ones. Thank you for your cooperation.

MRS. R.H. SIMS Jr. is in Neblett Hospital this week recovering from surgery. Doris, we hope you get well soon.

WE STOCK BOTH
FAST AND SLOW SELLERS

Recent news stories told how supermarkets and discount firms are telling manufacturers: "Sell us only your fast sellers. We are weeding out all others." Their reason is that the small amounts sold of slow sellers are not profitable.

This is true, but sometimes slow selling products can be very important to the persons who need them. There are hundreds of them in our pharmacy that sell only about a dozen of each a year. We buy only a quarter of a dozen at a time and re-order when they are sold. Our reputation is to have whatever you ask for. If we don't have your favorite, tell us.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound and dispense yours?

Mescalero Park News

Tow Attends Cycle School

BY TOOTIE BYBEE

HELLO EVERYONE whereever you happen to be at this time. First, let me say I'm sorry about the short amount of news at this writing. But guess who has been ill? That's right, that little ole news writer me. So, have been unable to get too much news this week. Hope next week will bring a bit more cheerful news of the happenings in this little oasis of ours. So, what little I've heard or seen is herein given:

HAPPY BELATED birthday to Michal Whitehead. Hope you have a heap more just as merry as this year's.

LEROY AND BARBARA Evans with their two daughters took a quick weekend trip down to Brownfield to check on Barbara's mother who has been very ill. Glad to report she is a whole lot better.

MIKE TOW ATTENDED the Motorcross School in Amarillo Saturday, although he really doesn't need a whole lot of instruction as he is really great on a motor now. I.J. enjoyed the day at the river hunting arrow heads and artifacts. They rode in the races at the pit Sunday. They are preparing for the Memphis enduro this week and plan to take daughter Dana along to ride also. Good Luck to you all!!

LITTLE MIKE MORGAN is still in Northwest Texas Hospital but much improved. Hope he will be back home real soon and all better.

THE CAMP FIRE Girls met this week with the Blue Birds and made foil dinners for their camp out at Don Harrington next week. They will also be participating in the project S.O.A.R. on Saturday. This is Save Our American Resources sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America. They will earn lovely Ecology type badges for their Ceremonial Costumes. Six of the girls have already saved coupons from certain products and sent them in to help plant a National Children's Forest in Missouri. This forest will be planted entirely by children who send in certain product labels and our girls are so privileged to be a part. Those who planted one or two trees apiece were: Kay Tow, Traca Cooper, Glenna Evans, Cristie Jones, Leslie Bybee and Lenise Bybee. They all received lovely Ecology Posters for their rooms for participating. Wish we were all as dedicated to the idea of Ecology as the kiddoes.

WANT TO SAY Congratulations to Cindy Buckles who walked 15 miles for the "Walk for the March of Dimes" campaign. She had a whole batch of sponsors and made quite a bit for this worthwhile project.

THE MORELANDS made a fast trip to Oklahoma City this weekend and took their horse with them. Barbara said she was just a mite tired from it all. Her Mom and Dad were here just for a short visit Monday afternoon and it made all of them real happy to get together this little while.

THE LTC (LADIES THURSDAY CLUB) met as usual on Thursday at Betty Malson's home and had a real great time together, minus a member or two due to illness, including myself. Told me they had a real delicious and different lunch, Sauerkraut Sandwiches. They work on several projects and some sewing.

SOME INTERESTING THINGS I have noticed this week: The Borens have a new project started this week. Looks like a new building in the back yard and a lovely lawn and landscaping being done up real well. The boys across the street from the Burdettes', their lawn is really coming up great after scraping off all the old grass and starting out all new. Mr. Rogers' fence around the front yard is so very pretty. The rock garden in front of the Allens' and the Barrons' homes are just lovely as several of the flowers are starting to bloom. The Coopers' and Holmans' yards look like they have been professionally manicured with all the tender loving care they receive. It all looks so lovely. The Roger Whiteheads look like they are living in a brand new house with all the additions and decorating they are doing, and I know they are so very proud of it. Of course, as always, the Woods' place on the corner just looks like the Garden of Eden to me. Just beautiful.

WELL, I'LL SEE you all next week same time and same place. Be good to yourself as well as to others.

ONE LAST WORD: to Blanche Hudson: Just 3 more weeks. Or is it two??

May 1 Is Deadline To Render Property

May 1 is the deadline for rendering property with the Randall County tax assessor-collector, according to Mrs. Audrey Bruse.

Randall County residents should claim their homestead if they meet the requirements, Mrs. Bruse added.

Mrs. Bruse said several farmers have not yet rendered their personal property and farm equipment. If the property is not rendered by May 1 the tax assessor-collector will assess the value of the property, Mrs. Bruse said.

Woman Loves Children...Flowers

By MARY NEAL HENRY

Anna Mae McManigal loves children-and just people in general. On Monday, she shared the garden of bluebonnets she and her husband grew with 128 school children in Kindergarten, first thru third grades and special education classes.

Each child was served a cupcake decorated with a bluebonnet fashioned from construction paper and stapled to a straw inserted in the center. A bluebonnet was also pinned on each child. A list of things to look for was given the children at school to make the tour more interesting.

The garden of bluebonnets is over twenty years old. Anna Mae says that it took over fifteen years for them to be really thick and pretty and that it is Hobart's flower garden. She gives him all the credit for the beautiful yard. Anna Mae explained the bluebonnets, different types of flowers and trees. They have one apple tree that produced about thirty bushels of apples last year.

The children also got to see Hobart's "wild" collection of geese, crane, snow geese, ducks, Bantam chickens, chukkers, pheasants and turkey. Anna Mae fixed a "Texas Table" that held items of interest such as rattle snake rattlers, turkey beards, oil lamp, unusual rocks, minature replica of Alamo, Texas flag and a blue "sun" bonnet on a wig head.

Anna Mae doesn't remember how long she has been doing this for the children of Happy, but it has been more than seven years. Mrs. O. H. Rahlfs and Mrs. John Toles have helped her in more recent years.

Hobart McManigal moved here when he was only five and married Anna Mae McClure forty-three years ago. They have three children. Anna Mae gives Hobart a birthday dinner every year and invites all his friends, most of whom also enjoy hunting and wild life; she decorates special for the children on Halloween and serves them something special; and is one who never fails to lend a helping hand to friend or stranger.

Going somewhere? Or been? The Canyon News wants to know about it--and so do its readers.

Three Teachers Honored

John A. Jackson, principal of Hilltop School in Amarillo, and two senior education students at West Texas State University have been honored by the Amarillo Field Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, honorary education fraternity for men.

Jackson, a school principal for nearly 40 years and treasurer of the Amarillo chapter for seven years, was presented the Phi Delta Kappa Award as the chapter's man of the year.

Mrs. Betty Jean Garcia, 33, of White Deer and Miss Betty Ely Irwin, 39, of Dumas received the Outstanding Student Teacher's Award in elementary and secondary education, respectively.

Both women are candidates for bachelor's degrees at next month's graduation ceremonies and are members of Alpha Chi, national scholastic honor society.

The selections were based upon classroom performance in their student teaching, academics, participation in campus activities and their potential as outstnnding teachers.

Jackson was graduated with a bachelor's degree by Texas College at Tyler and received a Master of Education Degree from the University of Colorado. He has done additional study at Denver University.

Dr. E. B. Posey, director of teacher certification at WTSU, and Jackson were renamed historian and treasurer, respectively.

Phi Delta Kappa also recognized 17 other prospective teachers in the College of Education at WTSU as outstanding in their area of academic subject matter. They were:

Mrs. Cheri Roberts, 20, of Schaeffer Trailer Park; Rachel Toscano, 21, daughter of Mrs. Anita Franco, of Skidmore; Mrs. Janice Lynn Wilks, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Holley, of Houston; and Mrs. Alice Jean Wright, 22, of 2415 13th Ave.

Raymond S. Bowen, 44, of Amarillo; Mrs. Diana Lee Brown, 21, of 1310 8th St; Mrs. Dorothy Ann Brownlow, 37, of Hereford; Mrs. Sandra Dale, 33, of Amarillo; Don S. Engbers, 28 of Amarillo; Cynthia E. Goodman, 20 daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Goodman, of Amarillo; Alfred N. Green III, 21, of Bayless Trailer Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Triplett, Mary and Charlie of Claude, were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Triplett.

Other guests during the past week have been Richard Triplett of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Triplett, Mrs. Roy Mickey and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Triplett.

Glen Waters, an all-district center from Brownfield, has signed an athletic scholarship agreement with West Texas State University.

The 6-3, 220-pounder lettered three years in football at Brownfield High for coach Harold Teal and was a starter for two years.

Waters was All-District 3-AAA this past season and was named to the All-South Plains team.

"Glen is the best offensive player we have had here in three years," said Teal. "He runs the 40-yard dash in 5.0 and is consistant with his offensive player."

On defense Waters was a starter at tackle.

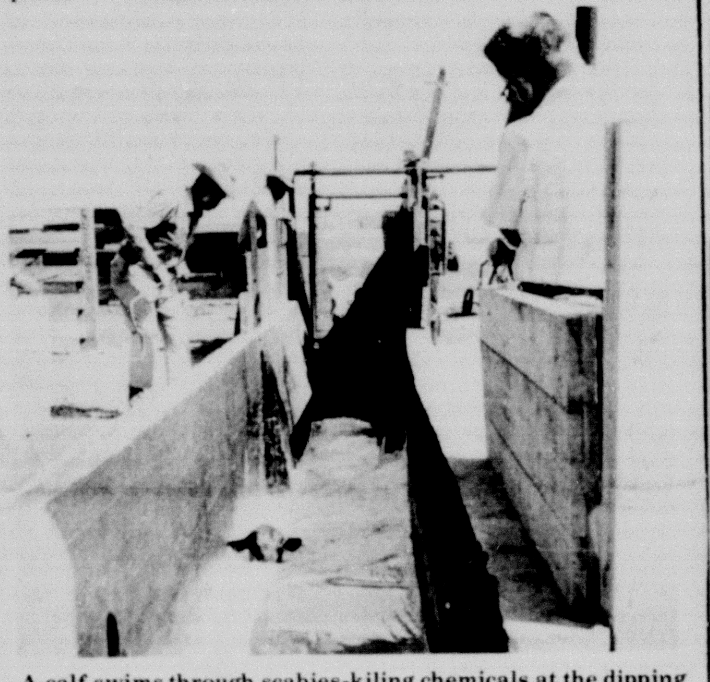
Patton Opens New Vat Facility East Of Canyon

W. A. (Pat) Patton opened his new dipping facility east of Canyon Monday, as two heards from neighboring ranches showed up "cattle-drive style" early Monday.

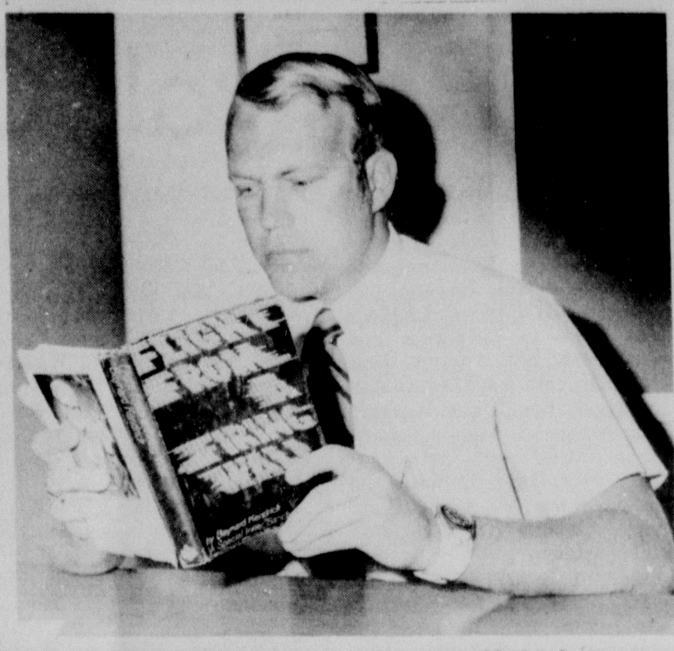
Cattle are being dipped to protect animals from the disease of scabies. State authorities have placed 34 Texas Panhandle counties under quarantine.

By June, all cattle in the county must have been dipped as required in this county.

Cattle are dipped in special chemicals designed to destroy dormant scabies germs, in an effort to head off any potential epidemic later during winter months.



A calf swims through scabies-kiling chemicals at the dipping facility of W.A. (Pat) Patton, east of the city. Another, bigger critter is shown getting ready for the big splash and forced swim. Patton began dipping operations Monday, and two herds were processed this week, as the drive to kill dormant scabies germs in Randall County continues.



B. B. Kendrick studies a copy of his grandfather's mystery novel, one of some 40 written through the years. The Canyon resident's grandfather is Baynard Hardwick Kendrick, father of Baynard Hardwick Kendrick Jr. B.B. said this week he hopes to see his grandfather sometime next summer.

Writer Fights Woes To Gain Fame At 78

By LEWARD HOOD

Long years of discouragement and rejection spelled success for Baynard Hardwick Kendrick.

He is one man who has proved he could be "bigger than anything that hit him."

The 78-year-old mystery writer—grandfather of B. B. Kendrick of Canyon, once had a tough time finding a publisher for his material.

But not so, now.

Canyon residents who may watch the television series known as "Longstreet" see his work, although it's in the elusive background.

"Longstreet" is taken from the elder Kendrick's mystery series based on the character of the blind investigator. The series of novels is Duncan Maclain Mysteries, published over the years by Baynard Hardwick Kendrick.

"He has published some 40 mystery novels," said B. B. Kendrick of his grandfather's work. I call him "Dad Kendrick. He also founded the organization of Mystery Writers of America."

The Duncan Maclain series is over, he said his grandfather told him. "Now he's writing history books in Florida." The grandson also wished to point out that this writer donated some $30,000 toward establishment of the Blinded Veterans' Association. That sum was taken from money he received from movie rights involving "Bright Victory," a film taken from his novel called "Lights Out."

Speaking of the dark early years when his grandfather fought to achieve some measure of success in his writing, B. B. Kendrick noted that "Dad Kendrick" was among that breed of writers who chose to "defend their work" when those in the book trade sought to "lick" or change his fiction.

Too, B. B. Kendrick noted, "He's written more than 100 short stories. He published his first in 1926, a story written for "Field and Stream."

"I've only seen him about four times in my life," he went on. "But I got to see him last October and he told me he was now working on a book called "Mulberry Castle." This work, he said, is a historical novel concerning Florida and the Southeastern United States (the writer's favorite "country").

B. B. added that his grandfather always was an "individualist," and showed off a letter from the writer, which ended: "Best love in the world from your everlovin' cotton-pickin' Grandad, Baynard."

"I'm sure proud of him," B. B. concluded.

HAPPY COWBOY BAND attended the UIL Contest in Amarillo on Tuesday of last week and received II in sight reading and a II in Concert. No team received all one s they tell me, at least not that day.

PAM SHIPMAN AND Ronda Fellers represented Happy in the Regional Tennis doubles at Lubbock and were beaten in the semi finals by the team that won Regional. This makes the girls second trip to regional and next year we'll be expecting them to win it. Karen Murdock played in the singles.

MRS. STEVEN AND Blayne White from Amarillo spent a few days of last week with Eddie and Phyliss Bryan. The boys are Phyllis's nephews.

LETHA PATTERSON WENT to Groom Thursday of last week to see her mother, Mrs. C. J. Shaw.

LOUISE SYDLOSKI RETURNED Friday from Wichita Falls where she spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. M. A. Cox, and sister Mrs. Ethel Rutherford. She also visited another sister, Mrs. Faye Robertson, who is recovering from surgery.

MRS. DORIS GILLHAM rode back to California last week with her nephew, Don Hamblen. Don is selling swimming pools. Ron is also working with swimming pools out there. Doris visited with her great Aunt, Mrs. Dave Hamblen and her daughters, Velma and Lora; her sister, Nellie Burrow; and Nellie's daughters, June Cramer and Elaine Parish; and of course, Oleff Hamblen. It was a hurried trip, I understand, but an enjoyable one.

BEAULAH HURST HAS been to Little Rock, Arkansas to visit her daughter, Phyllis, and her family

MRS. METTIE COX celebrated her 89th birthday on April 19th. Happy Birthday, Mrs. Cox!

MARY JANE MILLER has returned home from Houston where she received a 'check-up" and visited Frances Anne and Glenn Miller and girls. They enjoyed the visit and Frances Anne and Glenn took Mary Jane to Shakey's to dine out one night she was there. They really enjoyed the music.

MRS. KARLEEN MOORE, our Home Economics teacher took Sharon Dietz, Donna McDonald, Karen Hinton and Debbie McCarley to Fort Worth to the State FHA Convention last week-end. Sharon Dietz received her state degree and was presented a long stem red rose during the ceremony. Debbie McCarley was a voting delegate. Karen Hinton tried out for State pianist. The Theme of the convention was "We Can If I Will". I like that. A new program 'Encounter' is being introduced to FHA. There will be no more state degrees, but rather each school will set its own goals and the girls will give oral reports.

COLLEEN SCHAEFFER SHOWED me the 3-dimensional picture of flowers she'd done at Mrs. H. C. Bryan's party last week and it was pretty. I also saw a pillow case that Jennie Bryan was doing at home in blues. I believe she asid it was called 'blue onion'. Surely was pretty.

PAT AND MELTON Schaeffer, Mike Cosby and Sandy DuBois, Deith Morris of Dumas and Cheryl Schaeffer ate Sunday dinner with Melvin and Colleen Schaeffer. Later Mike and Sandy and Deith and Cheryl went to the canyons.

HAPPY JAYCEES ATTENDING a meeting in Borger on Tuesday night of last week included Lloyd Rahlfs, Dick Foster, A. J. Malone, Bill Whitlow, Kit Braga, and Gene Shipman. State President Rick Clayton was there and gave a rating on clubs within the state, and the state's standing.

Homer and Willie Butler, their leader, took them out to the Kinsey farm where they found mice, lizards, toads, and a family of bull snakes. Homer insisted on keeping the bull snakes, but the boys brought all the other creatures to town, that is after Homer and Nora Kinsey had filled them with ice cream, cake and soda pop. The lucky boys to go on this big event were Mark Tackitt, Scott Railsback, David Lane, Rod and David Walker, Greg Hampton, Bill Cope, Montie Johnson, Jerry Sims, Kevin and Kyle Odom. Del Eades, J. D. SEVEN HOME DEMONSTRATION Club Women from Randall County attended the District I meeting in Pampa last week. Voting delegates were Leona Henry, Amelia Irlbeck, and Maggie Voelm. Others attending were Mrs. Sidney Hall, Barbara Danner, Marcie Grabber and Mrs. Dexter Stokes. Mrs. Bill Hardy's opening address stated that our Home Demonstration clubs were weaker because of lack of leadership. This begins on a community and county level. The citizenship workshop urged women to attend their precinct conventions and to know the candidates and work for the one of your choice. Know what is going on in your community and in your county. Sounds as if it was a most profitable day for those who attended.

MR. AND MRS. Alfred Hamblen were in Florida to watch the launching of the Apollo 16. Jim and Ramona (Alfred's youngest sister) live on Cocoa Beach and Jim works at a space center. This group viewed the launching from just across the bay. And Thursday night he was named Outstanding Agriculture Student at Canyon's FFA Banquet and received a "no-name" trophy for his farm-ranch-oriented work. When I think of Neil, I can't help but remember the day about dusk, that we thought he was hurt in the canyon and had every airplane in the territory starting out to look for him. He knows that canyon as I know my back yard. We knew he wasn't lost. Congratulations, Neil.

CATHY, BRENDA, DEBBIE Parker, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Foster Parker, Shannon Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Wilhelm; and Lisa Payne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richmond Payne, played in the National Piano Guild at the First Christian Church, last Friday. A horse fell with Joe Billy last January and he still has one leg in a cast from the hip down. If it does not heal in the next four months, they plan to do a bone graft. Keith and his wife are both in college at Pullman, Washington.

I SAW MRS. Wise in Canyon last week. It was good to see Mrs. Wise out. She has been very seriously ill.

DEBRA CURRY WAS honored with a bridal shower in the Lonnie Todd home, on Saturday afternoon. We were met at the door by LaNell Todd, Juanita Currie, Debra, and Mrs. Shaw. THE FIRST BAPTIST Church honored the 1972 Senior Class and faculty with "Fun Night" on Monday night. Charlotte Weaver gave the welcome and Marvin Flowers pronounced the Invocation. After fried chicken, beans, potato salad, chop plate, and pie, the parents of the seniors presented a program, "The Legend of Instant Postum." Several Indians took part in this. You'd have had to see it to believe it. We also had a short "Baptist Tee-Hee". Ricky Hawthorne presented a reading accompanied by Royce Vernon on the piano. Brother Paul Heil then gave a devotional urging children to establish goals and to work for them, but first of all to find out what the Lord's will was in their lives.

MRS. HOBART McMANIGAL hosted the Women's Study Club on Tuesday of last Week and Mrs. A. A. Clark and Mrs. Bob Francy were co-hostess. THE I O W Club at Wayside met Monday night and came up with the best report yet. I wasn't there so I don't know who attended, but we do have a few openings if you think you'd care to join us.

See ya,

Mrs. John Dorsey, who will receive the first bachelor's degree in industrial education which WTSU has ever given a woman, works at a lathe in the university's metal shop.

Mrs. Dorsey Earns Industrial Ed Degree

On May 6, Mrs. John Dorsey will become the first woman to receive a bachelor's degree in industrial education from West Texas State University.

"I'm just as pleased as I can be about it," said the slender Mrs. Dorsey, who is the mother of six, the grandmother of six, a part-time drafting teacher, and a draftsman for her husband, who is Randall County surveyor.

"But I'm seven years behind with my ironing," she added with a grin.

She went on more seriously, "I think parents should all have to go back to school as students and get re-acquainted with the students. They are absolutely great! I'm just real prejudiced about our department because we have working students over there. And the instructors—all of the good doctors over there—they're just great, really."

Mrs. Dorsey has been taking courses which will lead to teacher certification in the industrial area, including woodworking, electric power mechanics, and metals.

She started back to school when her youngest child started to school. She had attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute before coming to this area and began her second bout with education at Amarillo College, where she now teaches part-time in the drafting department.

One of her current courses involves running tests on actual versus stated horsepower in a variety of engines—plane, car, and small motors, like lawn-mower motors.

Dr. Wallace Johnston, head of the Industrial Education Department said of his first feminine graduate, "She has been quite eager to learn in some of these classes which would not interest most women students on campus. Even in those areas where she was possibly not as interested as in her field of drafting, she approached it with a good attitude and a good spirit and encouraged others to do likewise."

S.P.R.Y. To Meet For Luncheon

Members of the S.P.R.Y. Club will meet Thursday at 11:30 a.m. for a covered-dish luncheon at First United Methodist Church.

The Rev. J. Frank Peery will give a devotional following lunch.

The public is invited.

Blanscet Gets STRP Fellowship

Gary W. Blanscet of Pampa has been awarded a fellowship by the Southern Regional Training program in PublicAdministration for 1972-73, the WTSU Department of Government announced this week. He is the first graduate of WT to be accepted as a fellow by the SRTP. Only six or seven fellowships are awarded each year in the Southern Regional Public Administration program, and, as a result of this high degree of selectivity, fewer than 180 have completed the program since World War II. The SRTP is a joint undertaking by the Universities of Alabama, Kentucky, and Tennessee.

Blanscet will receive his internship assignment at the University of Alabama early in June. Immediately after this, he will work in a state, local, or federal agency in the South for the remainder of this summer. The remaining three quarters will be devoted to public administration courses at the three schools. Upon completion of the year's work, interns are awarded a "Certificate of Public Administration."

Blanscet, a Government major, served as President of the WTSU Student Association his senior year.

Banquet Slated By WT Fraternity

Annual Founders' day banquet of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity at West Texas State University is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Friday in the lodge east of town.

Guest speaker will be Kenneth N. Sloan Sr., vice president and trust officer of the First National Bank in Amarillo.

The banquet will commemorate the 107th anniversary of the national social fraternity.

WT Dorm Council Says Support WT--Go Home?

The Interresidence Hall Council of West Texas State University has decided to promote campus activities with the students living on campus.

The council, a group of students elected from each men's dorm to promote those dorms, have had several hundred bumper stickers printed saying "Support WT—Go Home?".

Perry McMillian, a member of the council said, the bumper stickers were printed to urge students to stay on campus on the weekends and support the organizations rather than going home.

"We have had very favorable response selling our stickers," he said. "The council has had to reorder twice and we have sold about 300 so far at 50 cents apiece.

"We are trying another way to fight apathy on campus. The student participation in campus functions is very low. We just hope this drive will bolster our dorm activities and the campus-wide activities," the Big Spring sophomore said.

The stickers are available from any Interresidence Hall Council member, according to McMillian.

Santa Fe Writer Visits City

By LEWARD HOOD

The Panhandle-Plains Historical Society and Museum are attracting more and more national attention these days.

Ask Santa Fe Writer-Photographer Lynne Waugh about that; she'll tell you.

She and her husband Jack were visitors in Canyon last week. While here, she was busy taking color photographs of historical lore and artifacts at the museum, while Jack was visiting Canyon old-timers who frequent the domino parlor downtown—in order to obtain material he will write for the Christian Science Monitor.

The husband-wife team, working from a headquarters home in Santa Fe, N.M., were to depart Canyon Saturday after obtaining their photographs and material for articles.

Lynne is shooting photos for Time-Life Inc. That firm currently is putting together "Cowboy Book, Volume I" as part of their Old West Series of books.

"The reason I'm here," Lynne said while visiting with Boone McClure Friday, "is because you have the most significant material we can find on cowboys. Anglo-frontier history still lives today, here in Canyon."

It is that "living history" that she sought to capture in her photographs.

"It's incredible, what's been done here (at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum)," she continued. "McClure's doggedness in collecting rare material is exceptional."

She said also that she and Jack were most impressed with the continuous "spirit" Panhandle people show in support of the Museum. "Look how many people here who are willing to contribute to your museum, while most museums must politic and so forth to get their collections. Here there is a lot of willingness on the part of the people to preserve what they have historically."

Lynne is art critic for the Santa Fe New Mexican. She and Jack travel widely in the United States, working as a team. The couple drives a camper.

"It's just like the old days when they used wagons," she said. "Road hazards are about the same...you can break a wheel."

Another observation she made this week was that she and Jack find the writing material available at the museum most inexhaustible. "It's really something...there are 650 stories here that I could write if I could stay here."

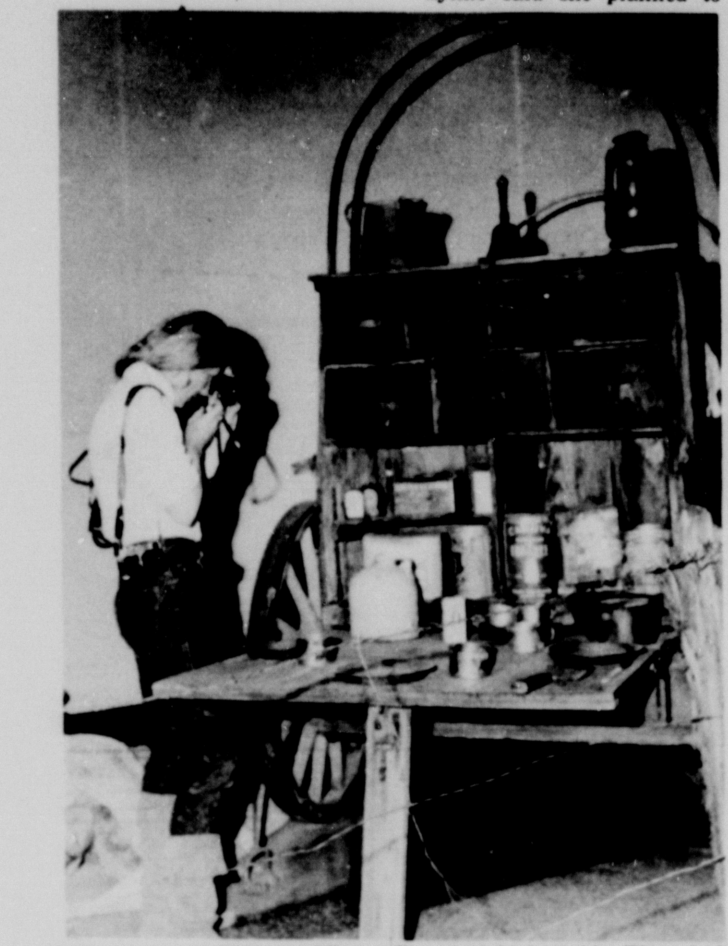
She said it was her opinion that Canyon in the future will become the focus and center of "cowboy culture" in the nation, although Oklahoma City already has the Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Lynne said she planned to write special articles on the collections of Western art on display here. These articles, she said, will appear as her column in the New Mexican at a later date.

Husband Jack is a former bureau chief for the Los Angeles Times. He writes primarily about politics, said Lynne, and last week was gathering material involving the political feelings of Canyon residents—particularly the colorful types he'd planned to seek out among domino players downtown.

The high-spirited writer-photographer said she will be making additional trips to Canyon as work on the Western book series continues under direction of her New York editors.

Summing up her experience last week, she said it was her intention to capture in vivid color photography the Western heritage she has discovered among the Canyon museum's historical exhibits.



Pretty Lynne Waugh of Santa Fe, commissioned by Time-Life Inc. to photograph Western lore at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum, is busy at work trying to capture the spirit of Frontier Texas. She and her husband, Jack, visited Canyon this week to obtain photos and material for articles and books.

Leader Tours Panhandle Seeking Funds For Center

Dr. Louis Calvin Browning, founder of the Youth Crime Prevention League, was in Canyon Thursday during a fund-raising tour of the Panhandle.

The league, which is chiefly concerned with encouraging black young people to stay in school, was formed at Temple in 1958, Dr. Browning said.

He is now seeking funds to build a center for the league in Dallas on a 1½ acre site which was dedicated Feb. 12 in Dallas. The $20,000 site has been paid for, said Dr. Browning, and the League has raised $10,000 of the $100,000 needed for a building. "We are trying to pay as we go," he said.

He and six other league workers, all black, visit college campuses and public schools to urge youngsters of their own race and others to stay in school. "We are 10 years ahead of Nixon, Reagan, and Wallace and have been working in schools across Texas for that long," said Dr. Browning, saying that he and the others, all ministers supported by their churches, hope to coordinate religious denominations among the blacks to discourage uprisings and takeovers by agencies like the Black Panthers.

"Un-American activities are hard at work to detour our young people from the right road. We're sure all freedom loving Americans will support this cause. True-blooded Americans are the only ones I have to appeal to for help. I mourn those who are supporting the far left that try to destroy and tear down."

Dr. Browning said integration takes education on both sides—black and white. "It's just too bad we didn't have a period of education prior to integration....We've done mighty well and moved along with very few incidents. Texas is at the top of the list as far as good race relations and violence are concerned."

The need, said Dr. Browning, is to keep the cities strong. If cities are not kept strong and the peace officers are not able to keep order "the little cities will throw up their hands."

Watch Out For Skunks; Rabies Is The Danger

"Anytime a skunk has enough nerve to jump on a dog, he should be considered as being a carrier of rabies," declared Canyon Veterinarian Dr. J. L. Markham, "because skunks and dogs are natural enemies and because skunks don't attack dogs unless they have rabies."

Referring to an incident of about a year ago, the vet sought to warn residents about the dread disease, which can infect most small pets in the city.

A Rabies clinic is scheduled at Dr. Markham's clinic May 5 and 6, he pointed out, and all pets in the city must be innoculated against the sickness.

"We will be innoculating animals between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. both days. Checks should be made out in advance, and all owners should have dogs on leashes and cats in boxes."

The charge for innoculation this year is to be reduced, he emphasized, with the charge scheduled to be $3.00 instead of $4.00 as in the past.

Dr. Markham warned residents to watch out for skunks as carriers of rabies, and gave a case in point:

"Some people about a year ago heard a commotion in their yard, and they turned on the light and found a skunk had bitten their dog. The skunk wouldn't turn loose. We had to keep that dog, an old English bulldog named Clancy. We immediately vaccinated the dog for rabies, and the dog lived out his six-month's quarantine period and turned out all right and went home.

"We treated the old dog like he was ours. I think Clancy's still around, as I used him for stud purposes last fall."

Of the upcoming rabies clinic, Dr. Markham added: "It will be much better for residents if they have their money ready, because sometimes it gets exciting when you get two or three cats and large dogs together (for vaccination).

"About three years ago a lady was severely bitten in the hand by a cat because a dog was barking and disturbing that cat...so we intend to have lots of help; and if the public will cooperate we can guarantee innoculations won't take long."

He said if everytinng goes as smoothly as he hopes, residents can get their pets processed in "just a few minutes."

But between now and the clinic dates, he again emphasized that residents should "watch out" for skunks—particularly if they attack city pets.

Church Women Will Hold Fellowship

Canyon Church Women will celebrate May Fellowship Day on May 5, with a program entitled "Behold the Woman" slated at the Episcopal Student Center, 2516 4th Ave.

Activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the center, with the program to be led by women from St. Ann's Catholic Church.

A nursery operation will be provided during the event. The nursery will be at First United Methodist Church.

WT Co-Ed Gets Rotary Scholarship

Rotary International has awarded a scholarship to 19-year-old West Texas State University sophomore Jo Sondra Beaver.

The vivacious young co-ed will serve in an ambassadorial capacity for one year abroad—either in Switzerland or France. She said Rotary officials have not yet informed her of details of her tenure overseas.

The award is a $5,000 scholarship designed to give her a chance to study at a university in Europe.

She will undertake her college studies for the 1973-74 school year.

"I'm elated," she said, "words just can't explain it. I went abroad one summer, and I've always wanted to go back." She said she will be assigned to a Rotary family while in Europe, and she plans to study the French language.

She said, too, she can't wait to see Paris and Zurich.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Beaver of Clovis, N.M., she is majoring in secondary education this year at West Texas State University. She plans to teach in high school after she completes her education.

She said she was chosen from 7 candidates who applied for the Rotary scholarship, available here through the Canyon Club.

Miss Beaver is a member of Chi Omega Sorority at WT, and the Mary E. Hudspeth Honor Society.

Russians Do What They Intend

Russian schools "accomplish their objectives," said Dr. Kenneth Laycock, recently returned from a tour of schools in Russia, Bulgaria, and Paris.

"We would not agree with their objectives," which are those which make for a regimented society, said West Texas State University's vice-president for planning and development. "They're training little Russians just like we train little Americans," he added.

Soviet schools he found, are regimented and super-orderly. Almost 100 per cent of the children attend kindergarten and a high proportion of youngsters are enrolled in day nurseries, some as early as their sixth month.

Dr. Laycock toured with about 60 educators under the auspices of the Comparative Education Society. He was the only Texan in the group.

He visited public school and higher education facilities in Leningrad, Moscow, Tallin in Estonia, Sofia in Bulgaria, and Paris.

The objective of the educators was to compare programs and find out what's really happening in education in Russia and Europe. But 14 or 15 days in Russia don't make you any kind of an expert."

In follow-up seminars at night, the travelers put questions to educators and government personnel.

"We were only able to penetrate by cross-questioning," declared Dr. Laycock, "and we saw only what they wanted us to see."

The Russians train people for specific jobs, in accordance with the results of testing programs and the needs of the country's Five and Ten-Year Plans.

Although youngsters become part of the Young Pioneers at 7 or 8 and receive their political indoctrination through the organization, only five per cent of Russia's citizens are members of the Communist Party. Only those who move up educationally and show ability are allowed to join, said the university executive.

Even taking the political system into account, he found the motivation of the students the thing that impressed him most, Dr. Laycock said.

He was surprised to find that Russia is spending 9 billion rubles (about $10.8 billion) on the restoration of buildings from the Czarist era. The palaces and cathedrals are being turned into museums and also demonstrate the width of the gap between the life of the aristocrats and the life of the common people before 1917.

An amazing amount of money is also going into cultural activities—music, ballet, drama. The visitors attended the Bolshoi Ballet in Moscow to see "The Hunchback Horse," and found that Leonid Breshnev and Aleksei Kosygin, accompanied by the president of West Pakistan were also in the audience.

The group also attended an operatic version of "War and Peace" which Dr. Laycock found "long and full of propaganda."

The work ethic is "really stressed," he reported, and there is "no involuntary unemployment," though he saw older people manning brooms and dustpans in the streets, contributing to the "relative cleanliness" of the nation.

"I didn't see anyone ill-clothed," he added, concluding that the country has concentrated on essentials. Now, however, there is more stress on the availability of consumer goods, which, he said, some feel may lead to a breakdown in the Soviet system.

The country's diversity—15 states speaking 59 languages—may also contribute to difficulties for the system, he feels.

College students in Russia don't really have a picture of our country, he said, and they also feel that we don't know much about theirs. They asked questions like "Is crime in New York as bad as we hear?" and "Why are you treating Angela Davis so badly?"

Dr. Laycock's group finally hit upon an answer to the Angela Davis question. They told the students Miss Davis is a counter-revolutionary—a very bad thing to be in Russia, said Dr. Laycock.

Dr. Laycock found that Bulgaria, although a Russian satellite, is run by Bulgarian Communists—not Russians. The Soviet philosophy prevails, but some private ownership exists. The educators were told that as owners of private homes die, however, the houses are torn down, so that private ownership is disappearing.

In Paris, the European system of the education of the stronger student is slowly giving way to the education of the masses—the American system.

Ventriloquist Due In Canyon

Victor Etienne, ventriloquist from Saint Paul, Minn., will be guest of the First Assembly of God Church congregation here April 30 through May 5, announced the Rev. A.J. Pettit, minister.

Etienne, said Rev. Pettit, drew a huge crowd of young people to the church when he appeared a few years ago. He predicted another large audience this year.

"The gospel ventriloquist since the age of eleven, has traveled extensively over the U.S., conducting camp meetings, and Youth Crusades in some of the largest churches. He has been approached by the entertainment field to sell his talents to the world, but has chosen to use it in the gospel ministry. Though entertaining, his work has a preaching-teaching appeal. His ministry is in great demand, and we are happy to have his talents for the local people."

Admission to each session will be free. "Everyone is welcome," said Rev. Pettit.

School A's Pay Off For News Boy

Being a straight-A student pays off.

Brent Alan May, 12, will vouch for that.

He's a delivery boy for the Canyon News who tries "to hit the porch everytime."

Wednesday, he received a bonus—for both his good work for the newspaper and for the A grades he received in his 7th-grade classroom work at Canyon Junior High School.

That bonus was in the form of a $5 bill, given him by Publisher Troy Martin, as an incentive.

His route includes 1st, 2nd and 3rd Avenues. He delivers to some 70 customers.

As for the straight A record, he said he plans to continue it, in hopes of getting more of those crisp $5 bills.

Injuries Slow Tracksters

Bob Kitchens hopes he will be able to do at least as much healing as coaching this week.

The Buffalo track team of coach Kitchens has been slowed for the past several weeks by injuries and he hopes the squad will be at near full strength Saturday when West Texas hosts three other teams for the WTSU Invitational.

Other teams entered are Texas Tech, University of Texas at Arlington and New Mexico State.

Among those injured have been Tracy Dickson, Jesse Lethridge and Steve Cone. None of the three leg injuries suffered by the trio showed enough improvement for Kitchens to take them to the Texas Relays two weeks ago and to the Wichita State Relays last weekend.

All of the injured athletes run on the Buffalo Relay team. Dickson and Lethridge are sprint relay team members of the mile relay.

Snow, who missed the Texas Relays with a turned ankle, made the Wichita State trip, but didn't vault as the runway was too slick from rain for the event and it was cancelled. He has a best of 15.0 this year.

Dickson has run the 100 in 9.6 and has a 48.0 best in the open quarter. Cone has run 49.0 in the 440. Lethridge has run 49.2 on the mile relay and has a 9.7 in the 100.

The Buffaloes and Texas Tech are considered to be the stronger of the four teams entered this week.

Field events get underway at the Buffalo track at 1 p.m.

First Graders To Present "Peter Rabbit"

BY PAULINE HEFLEY

MONDAY NIGHT next (May 1) is an absolute must for you to attend the Gene Howe P.T.A. The first graders will present the program entitled "Peter Rabbit". And, if you can't catch that performance be sure to go by the li'l white school house on the hill and see the production at 2 p.m. on that afternoon when it will be given for the student body of Gene Howe. Understand letters have gone out to the preschoolers asking them to attend also. Perhaps will see you when the meeting is called to order at 7:30 p.m....Okay?

AND, IT IS THAT special time of the year again...time to bring the wee ones that will start to school next year up to look the place over. Official pre-schooler day is May 4, Thursday at 1:45. Letters have gone out to the community inviting the kiddos up to Gene Howe as part of the program the nurse will speak, along with Mr. Lawless and a couple of other performers (like maybe Jerry Jacobs, superintendent of the Canyon Schools, and like maybe Mrs. Troyce Mulherin, president of the Gene Howe P.T.A....Don't know about the performers, just threw them in) and the students will be taken to the first grade rooms to visit. Should be a fun afternoon for your darling, and what a milestone in their lives...starting in the first grade.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Daren Finke

HERE'S A CAUSE you can support, the Central Baptist Church will be sponsoring an "all day car wash" this Saturday to raise funds for summer camp. It is going to be handled by the young people (teenagers) of the church community and supervised by the youth director and the pastor of the congregation. It all takes place at that friendly Ted Walker's Standard Station (5701 Canyon Drive) which is at the intersection of Western and the Canyon Freeway. Gonna take place this Saturday, all day long and you can get your motorcar spic and span for only $3.00 and write the whole thing off as a gift. That's a welcome change, Eh what?

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY to me Daddy and Mommie, Leo and Margaret Elliott, who receive the latest Canyon News down in Quanah.

CONGRATULATIONS to those students in the Symphonic Band who recently attended the U.I.L. contest, and received two ratings of "one" each, (on sight-reading and concert respectively) which is super. Those we know of that contributed from the Gene Howe area are Bryan Young, Larry Young, Cindy Johnson, Kurt Johnson, De Ann Holmes, Cathy Cantrell, Ken Cantrell, Brian Dodson, and Arthur Spear. We're sure proud of y'all. And speaking of the band, we take this means to wish Mr. Gary Laramore the best of luck in his short leave of absence to the service. Understand he will be back in the fall and we shall look forward to his return, and God's speed to you, Mr. Laramore.

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY to Erwin and Bobbie Davlin.

CONGRATULATIONS to the seventh and ninth grade track team (girls) who won their district track meet held recently in Panhandle. The eighth grade came in second, which is also noteworthy. Those we know of that were involved from our area were Jean Cannon, Teresa Tucker, Cindy Baldridge, Alexis Hefley, Edythe McCurry, Tonya Riley, Becky Wallace, Lucynda Curlee, Brenda Tyler, Angela Mayfield, and Sheila Thomason. Understand Sheila will be going to the regional track meet in Abilene in sprint relays and we wish her lots of luck. Also a big "thank you" to our spiffy coach Willy McAlpin, Diana Lewis, and Bob Schneider who continue to give of their time and talents.

UNDERSTAND ONE OF our Gene Howe teachers, Sandra Hicks, sat for her G.R.E. exam (that's graduate something or other, wrote it down and of all things, I can't read my writin'). Anyway lot's of luck to her.

HOWDY TO MR. GARY NALL on the faculty at West Texas for no reason at all...just to say Howdy.

SAY, THAT MRS. GEORGE (Barbara) Kirk had an interesting trip down to Waco to see you know who recently. Seems as though coming back on the plane to Amarillo she sat between Ralph Yarborough (running for U.S. Senator) and his aide. Understand it was a most interesting trip home and Barbara deplaned amid all the popping flash bulbs. I should think she deserves nothing less than that anyway.

HAVE SOMETHING to report to you on Charles Purcell's recent trip next week. In the meantime, y'all phone me your latest happenings...352-2089 or 376-9853.

Vandals Strike At Canyon Apartments

Police early this week were investigating an incident of vandalism reported by Arch Hunsley, owner of the Cambridge House Apartments.

Officers said somebody splashed paint on a wall on the north side of an apartment unit.

Disaster Plans Are Completed

Disaster is like a snake, waiting to strike without warning, Canyon city authorities said this week as they prepared for the imminent tornado season.

Two disaster plans have been drawn up under supervision of City Manager George Loudder, Police Chief Al Stewart, and Fire Chief Jack Jennings and Deputy Chief Joe Rice.

One plan is the City Weather Warning and Observation Plan; the other, a separate plan, is the Emergency Operation Plan, known as: "Baker One."

The CWWOB, officials pointed out, has the mission "to provide a plan to observe potentially dangerous weather and to provide a plan to warn the citizens of Canyon of impending danger."

This plan includes tornado watch activity in which local officers working from disaster headquarters (the Emergency Operations Center) at the Fire Station keep in constant touch with the National Weather Service, Kansas City.

When a tornado warning is issued for the Canyon area, it usually will mean the warning is based on actual tornado sightings in the affected area.

This year the NWS will classify tornadoes, as such: "mini, a tornado with length of 10 to 60 yards at the base; midi, a tornado with length of 60 yards to one-fourth of a mile wide; and maxi, a swirling storm more than one-fourth of a mile wide.

Said Canyon officials:

"Upon receipt of information that our area has been placed under a tornado watch the following procedures will be taken:

—"City manager, fire chief, police chief and all city department heads will be made aware that the watch has been posted.

—"Police, fire and other department heads should notify their personnel that they may be needed for weather-watch operations.

—"At any time a threatening or dangerous looking storm cloud is approaching the Canyon area the Police or Fire chiefs may put the weather watch plan into operation.

Stewart and Rice pointed out that the disaster plan, with its counterpart plan, is "a community effort." That effort, they stressed, is designed to protect every Canyon citizen by giving him as much warning as is "humanly" possible.

The secondary plan is "Baker One." This plan is to be put into play to handle an actual disaster after it has occurred. City officials have a detailed operational plan to cope with whatever should arise.

"All departments are working together as a team," Stewart observed, adding that disaster planners worry most about "panic." But they're prepared to handle that, too.

Conservation Week Is Set

The week of May 7-14 has been proclaimed as Soil Stewardship Week in Texas, and Canyon soil conservationists plan special activities.

Don Dolle, local conservationist, said posters designed to draw attention to the social importance of soil conservation will be placed in store windows around the city.

Dolle said in connection with the week-long observance Bob Henry, Randall County farmer, will be honored as "Outstanding Conservation Farmer" for the year.

Henry will receive the award—a plaque—during the annual Farmer Apreciation Banquet, scheduled by the Lions Club for May 10.

Texas Gov. Preston Smith, in proclaiming the week's observance, said: "The protection of our environment is the concern of every citizen of this state. Without adequate soil and water conservation our environment would be imperiled and the foundation of our economy endangered.

'The Soil and Water Conservation Districts are sponsoring Soil Stewardship Week in an effort to impress upon all Texans the importance of caring for God's earth."

NEW P-A-G 511 sorghum proves you can get high yields with short water

Because of the water shortage, many High Plains farmers planted drought-resistant P-A-G 511 in 1971. Many had higher yields than full season varieties planted under the same or better conditions. In the 1971 High Plains Research Foundation tests at Halfway, Texas, P-A-G 511 ranked number 2 of 40 Hybrids tested in Single Forty-Inch Spaced rows with a yield of 7,740 lbs. per acre.

PROVED ON FARMS IN 1971

Last year many farmers found P-A-G 511 to be more drought resistant and higher yielding than other medium-medium late and some full season varieties. Carl Kleuskens of Hereford won 2nd place in the 1971 P-A-G Yield Contest with New 511 and P-A-G 516 with an average yield of 8,455.9 lbs. per acre on a 100+ acre field.
